Not Like Lancelot.
Deadly Victory.
Ability Is Complex.
First in the Cave.
—By Arthur Brisbane.

(Copyright, 1920.)

How noble is prize fighting, how inspiring, what an excellent example to set before boys and young men!

In "his own story of the fight," Dempsey, who got $50,000 for beating a man half sick, writes, "I shot a right hook with all my power. It was headed for the jaw. As I hit, I knew Miske was through. He sank down on to his side. I doubted whether he would get up again. I stepped away from him from where he lay, his face writhing in pain. It seemed the blow had crushed him. But that boy climbed to his feet before the count of ten. But he was all gone then and there was nothing for me to do but walk over, take a careful aim and hit his jaw once more."

That does not remind you of Lancelot, refusing to kill Sir Gawaine, whom the latter was down and helpless, although Gawaine was calling Lancelot all the early English names he could think of, and promising to kill Lancelot as soon as he got better.

Legislatures that pass and governors that sign bills legalizing prize fighting, thus establishing distributing centres of crime and disease, must carry around brains like that of Dempsey.

In modern war, victory as well as defeat means disaster. France won the war, partly by the aid of her friends, chiefly by her own magnificent fighting. Now through J. Pierpont Morgan & Company she borrows one hundred millions of dollars, paying eight per cent. interest and buying bonds back at 110. This means eight per cent. every year, except one and eighteen per cent. for that year. Rather hard terms for a great and honorable nation.

If you can do one thing, you can do several. Michael Angelo, for instance, could paint, was the world's greatest sculptor since ancient Greece, a great architect and a great engineer.

It is difficult for the little man to realize that there is only one kind of ability. For instance, W. R. Hearst, after making the country's greatest success with his newspapers, entered the magazine field, buying Cosmopolitan which then had 250,000 circulation and sold for ten cents. A conspicuous magazine publisher of the period, then successful, now out of business said, "Hearst is all right, running one cent and two cent newspapers, but he will find that he is out of his depth in the magazine field."

Answer: Cosmopolitan Magazine now sells for thirty-five cents, and has a circulation above a million and a quarter.

Later, Hearst decided to try moving pictures, being interested in all methods of reaching the public intelligently. Once more he was told by wise gentlemen that he had gone into something that would prove too difficult.

The newer comes in the following paragraph from the New York Times, Sunday, September 5:

"Motion-picture people are softly mentioning the fact that William Randolph Hearst, owner of 'the morsequa,' is likely to be enriched by that film to the extent of about $1,500,000. According to appearances and accounts, it is one of the most successful films which has ever been produced."

Three were killed in the "Cave of the Winds" at Niagara, when sliding rock fell upon them. In the blinding mist they heard roaring death approach, but could see nothing. It was a tragic death. The first man that ventured into that cave, like the first that swallowed an oyster, and the first that paddled his canoe out of the Mediterranean into the Atlantic through the Straits of Gibraltar, was a brave man.

The first to enter the Cave of the Winds was probably some red Indian pursued by his enemies, and fearing tomahawks behind more than howling demons in the cave. He must have been a proud Indian when he came out, after dark, able to prove to his squaw and other friends that he had found an absolutely safe refuge and had been where no man had been.

It would have been hard for him to believe that his name would one day be forgotten. It is just as hard for us to realize that in years to come, a thousand centuries or so from now, all the names that we know will be forgotten and lumped under the general heading "Individuals of the semi-civilized age." They will talk of us as we talk of "The Stone Age," and we'll deserve it.

MACSWINEY DYING

TO ARREST SLAYER OF GIRL

Revenge Motive of Murderer of Rose McKenna, Providence Police Declare

Providence, Sept. 8.—The man who killed Miss Rose McKenna and dangerously wounded William J. Deignan, her fiance, will be arrested within a few hours, local police said today.

They declared that the suspect's connection with the crime had been established beyond reasonable doubt. He has been under surveillance since the shooting, but arrest was delayed to give the authorities time to tighten the net.

Revenge is believed to have been his motive, and it is stated that Deignan and his sweetheart were the persons the assassin meant to kill.

The new evidence has disposed of the mistaken identity theory, the "river pirate" theory and all the others which have grown out of the case.

Harry C. Hathaway, alias Parsons, arrested on suspicion of knowledge of the crime, has been released.

After checking up the movements of Hathaway in Fall River and Lynn, Mass., the authorities today stated they are satisfied Hathaway was in no way connected with the crime, and was in Lynn when the murder occurred. He was arrested for impersonating an officer in Fall River.

Deignan's condition has permitted the police to question him at length on the murder. The wounded man answered all question without hesitation. He adhered to his story that a man wearing a black mask approached his machine in Great Barrington Parkway with the command, "Hands up!" firing his revolver as he spoke.

AUTO KILLS QUINCY CHILD; DRIVER FLEES

A small child was instantly killed today in Quincy when an auto truck owned by D. Taddeo ran on to the sidewalk on Washington street, near the Fore River shipyard. Police are searching for the driver, who, with two companions, sped away.

TROTZKY'S SON KILLED IN BATTLE, IS REPORT

London, Sept. 8.—The son of Leon Trotzky, war minister of Soviet Russia, was killed in the fighting on the Russo-Polish front, acording to a Central News dispatch from Cracow, Poland, crediting the information to the Cracow Kurier.

Bride Weighs 463, Bridegroom 125

Rye, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Miss Esther Light, who weighs 463 pounds, was today married to Daniel Holmes, who weight 126 pounds. Mr. Holmes is a gardener on the estate of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid and is famous locally as a lay preacher.

$4,900,000 SEIZURE IN HARRIMAN SHIP PROBE

Washington, Sept. 8.—Solicitor Wayne Johnson of the Internal Revenue Bureau, after a conference with Revenue Commissioner Williams, today transmitted to the Department of Justice a full report of the seizure by revenue agents of $4,900,000 cash involved in a ship deal between the Harriman interests and the Kerr Navigation Company. Officials indicated that the seizure, made by government agents to assure payment of excess profits tax, may lead to an investigation of the so-called co-operative agreement between the Harriman interests and the Hamburg-American Line.

FEDERAL COURT UPHOLDS CAPE COD CANAL SUIT

In an opinion handed down today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, the decision of the District Court awarding damages to C. W. Chadwick & Company, was sustained. Suit was brought by Chadwick & Company as a result of the stranding of the tug Scranton in the Buzzard's Bay entrance to the canal.

OLIVE THOMAS TAKES POISON BY MISTAKE

Paris, Sept. 8.—Olive Thomas, American movie star, was recovering in the hospital today from a dose of poison, taken, according to friends, under the belief that it was a sleeping powder. It was stated that Miss Thomas was suffering from insomnia. Her husband, Jack Pickford, was with her at the hospital.

STRIKE-BREAKER TRAIN FIRED ON IN BROOKLYN

New York, Sept. 8.—A Brooklyn Rapid Transit train, operated by strike-breakers, on the Culver line in Brooklyn, today was fired upon by strikers or strike sympathizers. No one was wounded. An automobile with nine men in it raced alongside the train while the shooting was being done. One bullet crashed through a window and two struck the side of a car.

MACHINE FAVORITE LOSES

Speaker Warner Defeated for Lieutenant-Governor by Malden Congressman

Congressman Alvan Tufts Fuller of Malden became the political sensation of the hour in Massachusetts politics today, when complete returns showed him to be the Republican nominee for Lieutenant-Governor.

Running as an Independent four years ago, Fuller defeated Congressman Ernest W. Roberts of Chelsea, a Republican stalwart of stalwarts, for election to the House of Representatives at Washington. Fuller is forty-two years old and owns the Packard Motor Company of Boston.

The next step upward in Fuller's march, if he continues to be successful, will be into the Governorship, a prospect by no means pleasant to the managers of his party in their Kimball Building headquarters.

The Republican machine preferred the nomination of Speaker Joseph E. Warner of Taunton. Its second choice was Charles L. Burrill or Albert P. Langtry. Above everything else, it desired the defeat of Fuller. This was the result:

Fuller	38,286
Warner	37,422
Burrill	35,672
Langtry	38,206

U. S. Air Mail Service Is Inaugurated

Mineola, N. Y., Sept. 8.—The first trans-continental mail airplane left Curtiss field at 6:41 o'clock this morning for San Francisco, carrying about 400 pounds of mail or 1,600 letters and packages.

The machine—a De Haviland plane—was piloted by R. G. Page of Washington, D. C.

The weather was excellent with only a light breeze.

'ALL HOPE GONE' FOR LORD MAYOR OF CORK

BULLETIN

London, Sept. 8.—The latest official bulletin on the condition of Lord Mayor Terence MacSwiney, hunger striker in Brixton jail, indicates that he is dying. The bulletin said: "Lord Mayor MacSwiney has suddenly become much weaker. The doctors are most anxious. Relatives have been forbidden to attempt to converse with the patient." Friends of the Lord Mayor here declared this indicated that the end is near. They could see no hope for him.

London, Sept. 8.—Premier Lloyd George, in an interview today, indicated that he would insist that Lord Mayor Terence MacSwiney and other Irish hunger strikers in prison be kept behind the bars.

"The Cork Lord Mayor was engaged in a general conspiracy which resulted in the death of eighty-five policemen and attempted assassinations of seventy-eight others and the government certainly has a duty to perform towards its police force," the Premier said.

"It is not right to compare MacSwiney and the other Irish hunger strikers to the suffragettes, who never killed anyone. If we let them out you cannot govern Ireland.

"Who is to govern Ireland if not the British Empire? I certainly should not be responsible for the creation of an independent republic in Ireland. If we had had that during the late war the British Empire might have been destroyed by Germany's submarine war. It was a tough go as it was."

The Premier declared that dominion

Auction $2,000,000 of Seized Liquor

By International News Service.

Hartford, Ct., Sept. 8.—The problem of disposing of $2,000,000 worth of confiscated liquor and 150 automobiles, trucks and pleasure cars, which have been used in the illegal transportation into and through this State, falls on the prohibition enforcement officials, according to Thomas McAuliffe, head of the prohibition enforcement staff in Connecticut.

The seized liquors will be sold to Connecticut druggists at an auction and a similar disposition of the cars will be made.

TAGUE WINS NOMINATION, DEFEATING LOMASNEY CANDIDATE

KELIHER BEATS SULLIVAN IN SHRIEVALTY FIGHT

Picking Warner as the choice of the machine, and hence believing him to be his most formidable rival, Fuller went after the Speaker hammer and tongs.

He attacked the Speaker's appointment of legislators to "recess" committees, with extra salaries. He talked of the appearance of an associate of Warner's before a legislative committee as counsel for the owners of textile mills. He discussed the profitable State House employment of Charles H. Innes, Republican leader in Boston. He was just the sort of enfant terrible the "organization" would want to smother in a blanket of votes.

Up to a late hour this forenoon Speaker Warner had appeared to be the winner by a small but safe margin. Fuller was then put over the top by returns fro mhis own Congressional district, the Ninth.

BIG VOTE IN MALDEN.

The Fuller district is made up of Everett, Malden and Somerville in Middlesex County, and Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop in Suffolk County. As between Congressman Fuller and Speaker Warner this district voted:

	Fuller	Warner
Malden	2510	402
Somerville	4871	1114
Chelsea	1443	403
Revere	3111	210
Winthrop	1107	311

With one little village yet to be heard from, the lead of John Jackson Walsh of Boston over Richard H. Long of Framingham for the Democratic nomination for Governor appears to be 3,584. Walsh, like Alvan Fuller, was opposed by his "organization." The machine was for the Framingham manufacturers, who led the ticket last year and the year before. Result:

Walsh	39,927
Long	36,573

Results in other State-wide contests were announced today at the headquarters of the Republican State Committee as follows:

COOK IS WINNER.

For Secretary of State.

Cook	61,540
Bean	42,524
Wood	32,462
George	27,944
Harris	12,166

Congressman Peter F. Tague, overcoming the powerful opposition of Martin M. Lomasney, defeated Judge Joseph J. Mucley of East Boston by the comfortable plurality of 477.

Governor's Councillor Lewis R. Sullivan will not be the next Sheriff of Suffolk County. He was defeated by Sheriff John A. Kelliher by 11,705.

REPUBLICANS LEADERS AMAZED.

The Republican organizations' leaders who headed the bitter drive against Burrell today expressed amazement that a man without machine or organization and who had asked his friends not to vote for him was able to beat 42,185 Republican votes. Among the cities Burrell carried was Fall River, stronghold of former Chairman Edward A. Thurston of the Republican State Committee, one of the three executors of Charles Ponzi, whose finance dragged the Hanover Trust Company into public notice and started the campaign against Burrell.

Burrell's defeat, it is assumed, will end the active campaign against him. The committee of five legislators appointed by Governor Coolidge to investigate the intermingling of his public and private business, was expected to adjourn today without further public hearings.

Almost 50 per cent. of the Somerville vote is said desired to cast their ballot for James Jackson for State Treasurer did not illegally. As a result, Burrell led Jackson in Somerville. It was discovered that 2,540 voters had exercised preference for Jackson. But investigation of their efforts at using stickers revealed that only 1,837 had done so according to law. Thus 1,663 voters lost their right completely, and Burrell, with 2,382 votes, carried the city.

ASTONISHING OVERTURN.

The seeming defeat of Long by Senator Walsh, bearing a magnetic name in democratic primaries, was easily the most astonishing overturn in the first primaries ever participated in this State by women. Walsh went on of Boston with a plurality of 607 and increased his lead as the returns began to flow in from all the cities and towns except Worcester County. The absence of returns from many of the Worcester County districts was believed to be the only obstacle standing between Walsh and the right to run against Channing H. Cox in November.

More than 300,000 Republicans "tested the mucilage" in the State Treasurer's contest. Jackson got nearly 98,000 votes, and the returns now in. Kerr, also a "sticker" candidate, got 428, and Charles Lawrence Burrill, former State Treasurer and one of the four candidates for Lieutenant-Governor, declared this morning that at least 10,000 were pasted over his name by mistake.

KELIHER DEFEATS SULLIVAN.

Governor's Councillor Lewis R. Sullivan failed to smudge the gloss on Sheriff John A. Keliher's togs. The only consolation that Mr Sullivan may find after looking over the returns is that he carried three of Boston's twenty-six wards. "We can take a beating," Sullivan said cheerfully over the phone this morning. He did, as follows:

FOR SHERIFF
(Boston Vote)

Keliher	27,845
Sullivan	16,240

Senator William J. Foley of South Boston, with a record of seven years on Beacon Hill without missing a rollcall and two successful drives against the loan sharks to commend him to the voters, won as his reward the Democratic nomination for the Governor's Council in the Boston district, the seat vacated by Sullivan to make his campaign against Sheriff Keliher.

Foley's fear that John J. Lydon would make a contest worthy of note was apparently not well founded. Foley carried both Lydon's own ward and his own precinct as well. He then went out into Ward 12 and won by a substantial majority over the opposition of James M. Curley, who carried Lydon on his Tammany Club list. In the South Boston district, where both live, Foley led by over 4,000 votes.

The vote:

Foley—13,833.
Fitzeirn—7,964.
Lydon—7,509.
Buckley—4,976.

ANTI-CURLEY MEN WIN.

Foley's victory in old Ward 17 was not the only defeat suffered by former Mayor Curley and his Tammany braves. John H. Drew, running on an anti-Curley platform, not only won the Representative contest, but led the ticket. Representative Thomas M Joyce, supported by Curley, headed the second ballot. Representative Daniel J. Gillen, the other Curley nominee, ran third. There are but two seats in the district.

Representative William H. McDonald, ablest leader of the Democratic minority in the House, won the Democratic nomination, which is the equivalent to election, in the Third Senatorial District. McDonnell won by 133 votes over Representative Robert E. Bigney, who had been supported on the stump by both Wendell Phillips Thore, father of the old-age pension bill, and Edna Lawrence Spencer, who had just recovered from a serious illness brought on by overwork during the unsuccessful campaign for maternity benefits legislation. The result:

McDonnell—3,168.
Bigney—3,035.
Manning—2,877.
Gallagher—810.

SENATOR CURRAN DEFEATED.

Senator George E. Curran of Roxbury was defeated for the Democratic nomination for Senator in the Sixth Suffolk District, one of the distinct surprises of the primaries. Curran, after several useful years on Beacon Hill, suffered defeat at the hands of Representative John P. Englert, a promising young orator. The result:

	Crowley	Curran	Englert
Ward 15	103	687	1,000
Ward 14	1,457	878	941
Ward 15	276	468	1,447
	1,836	2,433	3,391

CAREY IN SEVENTH.

The Seventh District Senatorial fight brought victory to Representative John J. Carey of Dorchester, who defeated former Representative Joseph Merath. The vote:

Carey—3,558.
Meraith—2,208.
McLaughlin—150.

In the Ninth Suffolk Senatorial district, the Republican nomination for Senator was won by Henry S. Clark over Representative Elihu D. Stone by the scant margin of fifty-two votes. Stone was deciding today whether he will ask for a recount. The vote:

	Clark	Stone
Ward 10	693	1,047
Ward 21	1,047	841
Ward 24	662	393
	2,382	2,340

Representative Coleman Silbert won the Republican House nomination in the Sixteenth Suffolk District despite his advocacy of the 60-percent-a-year loan shark bill at the last session. His running mate will be Elijah Morris. David W. Keliher and Catherine V. Dowling, also Democrats, were nominated in the Sixth Suffolk district.

WOMEN WIN NOMINATIONS.

Mrs. Alice E. Cram of Boston won the Democratic nomination for State Auditor without a contest and Sarah Goddard, Mary A. Harris and Alice M. Mosan were allowed to "win" the three Republican House nominations in the Sixth Suffolk, an overwhelming democratic section.

Former Senator Francis J. Horgan and former Representative "Dave" Murray met each other in the contest for the Democratic senatorial nomination in the Eighth Suffolk District with this result:

	Horgan.	Murray.
Ward 14	330	270
Ward 22	490	730
Ward 23	500	324
	920	1324

The twelve Republican and three Democratic Congressmen who had no opposition for renomination breezed through to easy victories. The list includes Speaker Frederick H. Gillett of the National House of Representatives and Congressman Peter F. Tague. The remaining district, the Ninth, saw six Republicans contesting for the place which Congressman Fuller relinquished to make his unsuccessful canvass for lieutenant-governor.

Representative Thomas A. Niland, silent throughout the campaign, was renominated for the House in East Boston. John P. Holland, prominent in the American Legion, won the George F. Murphy, a candidate for re-election. Four others brought up in the rear.

Representatives William J. Francis and James J. Mellen of Charlestown were again victorious in Ward 4, this time in a field of seven. Representative "Bill" Hickey weathered the storm in Ward 9, South Boston. Joseph D. Toomey was also nominated. Twelve candidates sought the two places.

"Bandmaster" Al Moore, who left the State House to play martial music for the boys "over there," defeated Albert J. Connell by a two-to-one margin for the Democratic congressional nomination in the Eleventh District. The vote was: Moore, 1,842; Connell, 2,404. Mr. Moore will take on, in November, Congressman Geo. Holden Tinkham.

Alexander Bannwart, who had a one-round encounter with Henry Cabot Lodge, offered himself to both the Democratic and Republican voters in the Nineteenth Suffolk Representative District. Neither accepted him.

DRAPER'S SON SUCCESSFUL.

Eben S. Draper, son of the late Governor, made his first appearance in politics. It was successful. He won the Republican House nomination in the Eighth Worcester District without opposition.

Dr. William H. Murphy, Jr., of Brookline, attempted without success to convert the voters of the Thirteenth Congressional District to a new brew. He advocated a beer to be guaranteed, in its content, color and flexibility, by the government, but the Republicans chose to stand with Congressman Luce.

Congressman "Joe" Walsh of New Bedford overcame the opposition of Harold Winslow in the Sixteenth Congressional District, and Congressman Calvin D. Paige of Southbridge was supported again by the Republicans. Paige, by defeating Arthur H. Lowe, the Fitchburg manufacturer, came through the hardest drive made against any of the Republican incumbents.

Republican Senator Arthur L. Nason of Hanover was defeated for renomination by former Representative Albert P. Wadleigh of Merrimac.

Only 8,307 Votes Are Cast in Cambridge

There were 28,500 registered voters in Cambridge, but only 8,307 voted. Republicans turned out to the number of 5,000, while the number of Democratic ballots cast was 3,321.

In the Second Middlesex Representative District no indication was out for three positions. Kidder and Meyers were renominated and Stratton was the third winner. The losers were Bradbury, Brown, Morgan and Seaman.

In the Second Middlesex Representative District there were four contestants for three seats. Beane and Green were renominated and Reading was the third victor. Angus was low man.

The vote for councillor in the Fourth District candidates were

BOSTON SCHOOLS REOPEN FOR FALL TERM WITH 112,000 PUPILS

PLENTY OF ROOM FOR ALL

Schoolhouse Facilities and Care of Influx of Children Teachers Ample to Take

Boston schools reopened today.

More than 100,000 boys and girls tore themselves loose from vacation ties and turned toward the land of first readers, fractions and ferrules.

But if normal boys and girls displayed none of the intense joy at the return to the classroom which has been pictured by the poets, Boston adults found reason for congratulation in the school situation this year.

There is no shortage of schools in Boston, as there is in so many parts of the country, and no shortage of teachers.

Already accommodations have been made for 112,000 in permanent public schools. That is the number which is expected to report during the day. In addition, 176 portable school buildings are in readiness and teachers to occupy them.

School authorities declared that the city has rarely been better prepared to care for the thousands of future citizens at this opening, and that they were prepared to meet any demands that might be made upon them.

NEW FREIGHT RULES TO HIT PROFITEERS

Washington, Sept. 8.—By further tightening regulations governing freight shipments, the Interstate Commerce commission this week believed will be a sharp blow at the high cost of living. Under the new rules reconsignments will prove more costly, thus making it less profitable for shippers to shunt their cargoes about the country, seeking the highest market. Also they will facilitate the movement of freight and consequently make available larger number of freight cars.

POTTER TO PAY WIFE $400 A MONTH ALIMONY

New York, Sept. 8.—Robert H. McCarter Potter, millionaire property owner and yachtsman, will pay his wife, Mabel Lawrence Potter, $400 a month alimony pending the outcome of her suit for separation.

Mrs. Potter in her suit charges that her husband persistently neglected her and that he entertained women friends at hotels in the city and aboard his yacht. Mr. Potter is well known as a breeder of horses and is a member of the Larchmont Yacht Club.

BROOKLYN CAR STRIKE REACHES DEADLOCK

New York, Sept. 8.—The refusal of Receiver Garrison and Federal Judge Mayer, legal custodian of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, to deal with the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes, has reached a strike situation here to a deadlock. The company's ultimatum to the men to return without loss of seniority rights expired at noon today. Improvement in the elevated, surface and subway service was observed today.

GOMPERS URGES REPEAL OF INDUSTRIAL COURT

Washington, Sept. 8.—Denouncing the Kansas industrial relations court, instituted by Governor Henry J. Allen, as a vicious measure, designed to establish compulsory labor, President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor called upon the Central Labor Unions in Kansas to work for the law's repeal.

Roosevelt Takes Rest

Eastport, Me., Sept. 8.—On his arrival here, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for Vice-President, declared that he will rest a few days with his family at their Summer home at Campobello before resuming his campaign activities.

East Boston Girl Keeps Marriage a Secret

Mrs. Walter F. Wynter, formerly Miss Lillian F. Lane.

Announcement today of the marriage on August 31 of Miss Lillian F. Lane, daughter of John H. Lane, professor of the Henri Brewster, to Lieutenant Walter F. Wynter, a veteran of the Yankee Division, came as a surprise to their friends.

They had kept the marriage a secret, but the news was broken today from one of the few intimates of the two families who were present at the ceremony in Dorchester.

The romance dated back to childhood days in East Boston, where the principals lived for many years. Lieutenant Wynter went overseas with the 26th Division and was stationed on the Mexican border. It was while he was convalescing that they became engaged to wed. Following the wedding they took a five-day trip to Asbury Park, New Jersey.

Mrs. Wynter was educated in Boston and was active in the American Red Cross during the war. Mr. Wynter is engaged in general contracting. They live at No. 1076 Commonwealth avenue, Brookline.

Culbertson, Mont., Sept. 8.—Governor James M. Cox, Democratic Presidential nominee, entered Montana today determined to present evidence which he believes will show that those corporations which made the greatest profits during the war are contributing most heavily to the $15,000,000 fund which, he says, Republican leaders are raising to "buy the Presidency of the United States."

The American Woolen Company, the governor charged in his speech at Minot, N. D., is the "most notorious profiteer in America," and he let it be known that he expects soon to be able to make public the result of surveys he has instigated into "circumstances surrounding the laying off of workmen by that corporation."

Though the reception accorded Governor Cox in North Dakota was hardly as spontaneous as that which he has been given in other parts of the Middle West, the Governor expressed himself as more than pleased with the result of the trip.

The Governor speaks at Havre this afternoon. In the evening he will speak at Great Falls. Other platform talks will be made at most of the towns where the train may stop. On Thursday set speeches are scheduled for Helena, Butte and Anaconda.

LITHUANIAN TROOPS BLOW AT POLISH PEACE

Warsaw, Sept. 8.—The Lithuanian question has become more serious and is bound to prolong the peace negotiations which the Russians and the Poles will conduct at Riga.

Prince Sapieha, the Polish Foreign Minister, has declared that a peace that doesn't include the Lithuanians is impossible. This state of affair has arisen because the Lithuanians, without a declaration of war, are now in the field 30,000 strong against the Poles.

LEGION MEMBER DIES 21 STORIES TO DEATH

New York, Sept. 8.—John Anderson Drake, a prominent American Legion member, plunged to death from the twenty-first floor of the National Association building. His skull was shattered and he died instantly.

The suicide theory is scouted by his father, Benjamin Drake, secretary and treasurer of the Drake-Mann Realty Company. It is believed that he was mentally deranged caused by a dizziness, the effluvia of a gas attack received in France.

TWO FINED FOR DRIVING CARS WHILE DRUNK

Judge Henry T. Lummus, presiding in Lynn District Court, fined Tilden L. Lunt $100 and Rene H. Pelletier $50 on charges of operating automobiles while under the influence of liquor. Lunt's car struck a tree in Swampscott Sunday night and Pelletier's machine was overturned Sunday night after he had been chased by the Swampscott officers for fast driving.

BUYS PLANE FOR GAMING TRIPS

French "King Baccarat" to Make Flights to Spanish Monte Carlo

Paris, Sept. 8.—With his pockets and suit cases bulging with bank-notes, Maurice Vagliano, the Greek ship owner and called "King Baccarat," became the first to broke the bank at Deauville five times in succession, arrived in Paris from Deauville and immediately engaged his private aeroplane limousine, for which he paid 300,000 francs.

It was announced that he would live at Biarritz, flying daily to San Sebastian, Spain, where the 113 is compared to Deauville. Gambling is going on nightly and so many society women are following the example of Vaglianos that a premium has been placed on private airplanes.

8 PLANES SOLD.

Eight seaplanes, taken to Biarritz on the off chance that they would find a market, were snapped up eagerly by the gamblers who intend to bring the Spanish Monte Carlo within an hour's ride.

Vaglianos, who won 5 million dollars and the Syrian, who is reported to have won even more at a single sitting, are the leading spenders at Biarritz, but Americans, including a dozen new war millionaires from Chicago, the Middle West and Texas are close behind in the race to unload their superfluous shekels.

RICH RACE LOSES.

The star visitor of the week at Biarritz is "Mamie" Jones, colored, who sold a tiny Oklahoma farm for $250,000 when oil was discovered on it. She has taken a villa on the seafront and wears the most gorgeous and most colorful creations from the Rue de la Paix.

Mamie spent the first night here in the Baccarat rooms and lost a few thousand dollars. Thereafter she declared "Ah prefers craps," and has remained away from the Casino.

124,725 HORSES WATERED BY S. P. C. A. LAST MONTH

In the monthly report of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, issued today, President Francis H. Rowley announced that the hydrant stations cared for 124,725 horses at Copley square, Postoffice square, Commercial street and Atlantic avenue, and the Brighton stall. Officers investigated 536 cases, examined 2,052 animals and 3 prosecutions with 24 convictions, took 107 horses from work, destroyed 64 horses and 520 small animals, 1 dog and 1 cat and 3 abattoirs. 57,848 animals were examined and 174 cattle, swine and sheep destroyed.

AUTOMOBILIST APPEALS DRUNKENNESS SENTENCE

Maurice Basher of Waltham street, Lexington, was sentenced to three months in the House of Correction by Judge Prescott Keyes in the Concord District court, on the charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He appealed, and was held in $2,000 bonds for his appearance in the Superior Court.

$1,843,500,000 Paid in Life Insurance

While Boston names are missing from the list of large life insurance payments made last year Bostonians read with interest today the report that in 1919 the immense total of $1,843,500,000 was paid out by life insurance companies operating in the United States and Canada and the Federal War Risk Insurance Bureau.

In death claims, matured endowments and annuities the private companies paid $677,656,000; the War Risk Insurance Bureau, $579,118,000.

Theodore Roosevelt was insured for $83,000; Robert Collier for $83,; Joseph Pulitzer, $1,000,000; Cleveland H. Dodge, $1,000,000; Jacob H. Schiff, $1,000,000; Mrs. Russell Sage, $1,000,000; Mrs. Edward H. Harriman, $1,000,000; Mrs. Mary Harriman Rumsey, $1,000,000; Mrs. E. H. TAGUE WINS IN CHARLESTOWN

Lomasney Also Meets Defeat in Senatorial Fight When Green Beats McNamee

Charlestown didn't believe it. They were told that Congressman Peter F. Tague was faithless to the Irish cause and this is the way they answered the charge.

	Tague	Morley
Ward 3	1,509	329
Ward 4	1,575	465
	3,084	794

Leaving his "old home," Bunker Hill district, with the commanding lead of 2,290 votes, he picked up another 622 in Ward 6, where "Handsome Tom" Donovan was reported to be in a friendly mood, and he swept into Ward 2 too far "out in front" to be overtaken by even the powerful Lomasney.

CRITICIZE STRATEGY.

The Mahatma gave Morley 2,182 to Tague's 844, enough to win the ordinary fight, but not enough to overcome the indorsement which Charlestown gave the "favorite son." Lomasney's followers were today complaining that Judge Morley did not stand up in his own East Boston. He carried Ward 1 by little more than 100 votes.

The Green-McNamee contest for the State Senate staged the second anti-Lomasney victory and told the same story of Charlestown's loyalty to an especially popular son. Lomasney gave McNamee 2,155 to Green's 784, but the third and fourth wards sent Green away with a lead of approximately 2,200.

The vote, with the Cambridge wards missing:

	Green	McNamee
Ward 3	1,783	748
Ward 4	1,671	553
Ward 6	734	2,155
	4,188	3,456

MARTIN LOSES WAGER.

On the above, Martin lost a wager of $50, his first risk and first loss in a political contest.

His strength in the West End district which he calls home was demonstrated by the election of all three House candidates—Costanza, Finkelstein and John L. Fitzgerald—over the Farley-Langone-Manevich combination.

Helen Wainwright, 18-year-old swimming-wonder—member of the Olympic Team. Helen won her first swimming prize when she was eight and since then has captured 39 medals and cups. Her home is at 51st St. and Jackson Ave., Corona, L. I.

Girl of 14 defeats America's best divers

Mother of Helen Wainwright tells how her daughter won national honors. Gives interesting facts on building health and bathing

THIS summer a pretty little slip of a girl defeated all the best women divers in America.

At the Olympic Trials Helen Wainwright, only 14 years old, was chosen to represent the United States at Antwerp.

"Ever since Helen was very small," said Mrs. Wainwright recently, "I have encouraged her to swim and dive. And one of the first things I taught her was to follow the simple rules of health.

"We discovered long ago, for instance, that bathing at home, if properly done with the right soap, is a real way to build up vigorous health.

"All our family have used Lifebuoy Health Soap because its soft, creamy lather leaves the whole body stimulated and the skin ruddy and glowing with health."

Like the Wainwrights, there are 2,000,000 other families in America who are building up health and strength every day by correct bathing. They know how the big, generous lather, and the mild antiseptic of Lifebuoy Soap invigorate the skin and tone up the whole system.

Doctors have found that an inactive, "lazy" skin is a common cause of discomfort and lowered health.

Why a "lazy" skin is a drag on health

We have all wondered why some people are always complaining about the weather.

On warm days they feel hot and uncomfortable. And in the slightest draft they begin to sneeze and catch cold.

A common cause of these troubles—and of many others—is an inactive, "lazy" skin.

The tiny muscles of the pores and glands in the skin are just like all our other muscles. Without proper exercise they become weak and flabby.

Then the whole skin grows "lazy." It cannot do its work—cannot give the body full protection against changes in temperature. We suffer too much from the heat, and catch cold too easily. In addition, a "lazy" skin is always exposed to rashes and eruptions. The vitality of the whole body is lowered.

Keep your skin active—glowing with health

Doctors have found that proper bathing will easily restore health and vigor to a "lazy" skin.

Already many people have found a simple, pleasant way to keep the skin healthy and active—really to build up health through bathing.

A bath in warm water with the rich, bubbling lather of Lifebuoy Health Soap—then a cold sponge-off and a vigorous rub-down—

Try this yourself—see how it leaves you "tingling" all over. It gives your skin just the exercise it needs. That means a clearer, fresher complexion, too—the radiant, "outdoor" look that everyone admires.

Notice, too, the clean, wholesome odor of the Health Soap. It contains a special ingredient—a mild antiseptic, that purifies and stimulates the skin. The odor tells you why Lifebuoy is known as the "Health Soap."

Start today to make every bath help build health for your whole body. Take a cake of Lifebuoy home with you. It is on sale at grocers, department and drug stores. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

LIFEBUOY HEALTH SOAP

Ordinary Soap — Lifebuoy Health Soap

50% more lather than ordinary soap

Rich, generous lather—half again as much as with ordinary toilet soaps. That's the result of the Red Palm oils in Lifebuoy.

Try the simple test shown above. See for yourself that Lifebuoy forms at least 50% more lather. Notice, too, the clean, wholesome odor of the Lifebuoy antiseptic. The generous lather carries this cleansing antiseptic right down into the pores of the skin. That is why Lifebuoy keeps your whole skin glowing with health.

For the face and hands

More than any other parts of the body, the face and hands are exposed to dirt and grime. They especially require a soap that forms a heavy, creamy lather, which will loosen the dirt, and carry it away.

Try Lifebuoy the next time you wash your face and hands. Notice how much cleaner—how much cooler—the rich Lifebuoy lather makes them feel than ever before.

Watch your skin improve

$200 in prizes for letters from Lifebuoy users

Every day we are hearing from more and more Lifebuoy users who are doing remarkable and unusual things. If you or your family are among the 2,000,000 users of Lifebuoy, and have won a prize, or done something interesting, write us a letter describing it and telling why you like Lifebuoy.

We will award prizes of $100.00, $75.00 and $25.00 for the three best letters. Enclose the end of a Lifebuoy carton in your letter and mail it on or before August 31. Address to Dept. B., Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

American Woolen Company

TO THE PUBLIC:

The leadership in the woolen goods trade which has been attained by the American Woolen Company has naturally subjected it to a variety of attacks, most of which, outside of trade and political rivalry, have been based upon misunderstanding.

The size of the operations of the American Woolen Company—its large capital employed in the production of seventy varieties of cloth in ten thousand varieties of styles; its capital investment in fifty-seven mills and its employment of more than 40,000 mill workers — places it in the position of something more than a private corporation.

It has duties toward the national government to whom it has paid more than $20,000,000 in taxes in a single year or more than 10% of the gross volume of its sales. The government should have reciprocal duties in protection of this American industry.

It has duties toward 15,000 people who own its $40,000,000 7% preferred shares—the first and only lien upon an investment estimated at above $150,000,000. These stockholders are not speculators; they are the backbone and sinew of our industrial life which must be based upon the savings of the people. When money is easy, these shares sell at 10% premium. When money rules as at present at high interest rates, they sell at 5 @ 10% discount from their issue price of $100 per share.

The American Woolen Company has duties toward the 3000 owners of its common shares—formerly $20,000,000 but recently expanded by the issue of $20,000,000 additional stock for new working capital. The stock was offered to shareholders at par, was underwritten at 5% commission by a syndicate of bankers and capitalists, and is now quoted at 20% discount from par, although every share represents an equity value above the preferred shares of more than $200 per share.

The American Woolen Company has duties toward its faithful employees which rank ahead of its obligations to its ordinary shareholders and are co-equal with the interests of its preferred shareholders. All are dependent, more or less, for their living and their livelihood, upon wise and just management in the conduct of this great enterprise.

The American Woolen Company aims to recognize its manifold duties to the public, not only in the production of the best woolen goods American enterprise can produce and in the meeting of honest competition in free and open American markets, but in the maintenance, so far as possible, of steady employment for its employees. It recognizes that upon this steady employment depends the welfare of the cities and towns in which its mills are located.

To carry out these manifold duties it must aim toward steadiness in prices and fair values for its goods; for its wool purchased and for its labor employed. It must avoid, so far as possible, the purchase of wool at boom prices and it must be forehanded in the use of its capital in the purchase of wool in times of liberal supply.

It must aim to hold its skilled labor organization with the fewest possible changes. It therefore pays the highest wages and gives the steadiest employment, so far as it is supported by the public in the purchase of its goods.

To manufacture and accumulate a stock of goods when the public refuses to purchase is only to invite disaster in markets and prices, reacting in the end upon our employees and the savings that furnish the capital. Such a policy continued would only result in prolonged depression disorganizing all the forces of both labor and capital which must jointly support this enterprise in its service to the public.

The company must manufacture according to orders either on its books or clearly foreseen. Early in this year the company had on its books sufficient orders to insure employment for six months.

Labor was in universal demand and prices of wool and woolen goods were at the highest seen since this company was organized. To maintain our organization and insure the fulfillment of our contracts another advance in wages of 15% was announced to our employees in May.

With the advance in the money rate and increasing restrictions to credit, cancellations began to come in; but for some time they were no more than might be expected and not larger in volume than had been seen in pre-war times without making disturbance in the industry.

When, however, on May 26th, the government brought indictments against this company for prices charged for its goods in open and competitive markets, it was notice to the trade by the government that the prices for woolen cloth must be reduced. Although the indictments were dismissed by the court of first jurisdiction on June 11th, cancellation of orders became universal over the country. Total cancellations based upon figures collected by the government are estimated for the whole trade at the entire annual output of the American Woolen Company.

The total cancellation of orders upon the books of the American Woolen Company amounted to more than $40,000,000 or sufficient to give employment for two months to all our workers.

To have continued to manufacture and accumulate unsaleable goods would have been, not only financial suicide, but would have insured a depression in the entire woolen industry from which it would have taken many weeks, if not months, to recover by universal shutdowns with widespread disorganization and unemployment.

Therefore instead of the usual two weeks' vacation in August, the mills were shut down on July 10th, which was fortunately the best season for a two months' vacation. Had the shutdown been forced in the winter season, as it would have been by continued accumulation of goods, there might have been, with high prices and famine conditions for fuel, some personal suffering.

To September 1st, however, there has been less call upon the company and the public authorities for personal assistance than in the preceding year, when there was only a two weeks' vacation. The reason for this wholesome condition in our mill communities was the large volume of wages paid the past year —a sum exceeding anything ever before known in the American woolen industry. Yet the average wage is not higher than that in other skilled trades entering into the cost of living.

We believe in good wages for the American skilled working man—the highest wages that expenditure by wage earners themselves will justify. The makers of goods are the consumers of goods in this country. Prices must depend upon wages and consumption.

The American Woolen Company will be a success only so far as it is fair and just to the capital and the labor which it employs and to the public which it serves.

If you believe in the policy of the American Woolen Company in the maintenance of good wages for skilled working men, order your goods promptly this season, and if you carefully select your woolen cloth according to your needs, you will find in the American Woolen Company production such a variety as will make it unnecessary for you to invite foreign importations.

The American Woolen Company begins its exhibit to the trade Thursday, September 9th, and will begin the starting up of its mills Monday, September 13th.

The wage scale will be the same as when the mills were forced to close in July.

The support of the public in the prompt purchase of the goods of the American Woolen Company is invited.

VETERANS PLAN BONUS PARADE

Demonstration to Be Held In Washington During Convention of Foreign Service Men

Boston members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars are preparing to attend the national convention of the organization, which will be held in Washington, opening next Monday and lasting six days. The Boston delegates to the convention will support a resolution calling for a big parade of veterans in Washington during the convention, in support of the bonus bill for world war veterans, now before the Senate.

It is reported that the bonus parade resolution will receive the unanimous support of the convention and between 5,000 and 8,000 veterans expected to attend the convention will march.

The Boston Post, No. 319, has instructed its fourteen delegates to the convention to support the bonus parade plan, and other posts throughout the country have taken similar action.

The Boston Post, organized last January, of which Sherwin G. Harriman is the commander, has a membership of about 600.

SEEK $150,000 FROM BROKER

Orler Charged With Cheating Widow by Aid of Crystal Gaze

Jordan S. Orler of Brookline, a downtown broker, in a bill of equity brought against him in the Suffolk Superior Court, is charged with obtaining nearly $150,000 by means of false pretenses from the late Mrs. Emma A. Martin, whose mind, it is alleged, became so weakened from crystal gazing and kindred practices that the broker was able to substitute worthless securities for those left her by her second husband.

It is charged that when Mrs. Martin asked Orler's advice about increasing her income and placed her certificates in his charge, he told her he would reinvest her money safely, but in such a way that she would obtain a larger income.

The suit is being brought by Ralph E. Joslin of Winchester, administrator of her estate.

being brought by Ralph E. Joslin of Winchester, administrator of her estate.

The case is up in the equity session today. Meanwhile Judge Lawton has issued a temporary injunction prohibiting Orler, who does business under the name of the J. S. Orler Co., Inc., of Massachusetts, and the J. S. Orler Co., of Maine, from disposing of his stock in the concerns.

Though Mrs. Martin was thrice married she lived alone from August 12, 1916, to June 12, 1917, spending the major part of her time in New York.

"During the entire period herein set forth," the bill says, "she was in almost daily correspondence and personal contact with a crystal gazer in Boston, one Mrs. Jane Louise Rutland, who was closely connected with the respondent's business, if not their agent, and who introduced her to them. During this period also she suffered from a physical malady which eventually contributed to, if it were not the direct cause of her death."

TO PASS ON PROMOTION OF 36 NAVAL OFFICERS

A board of examiners will convene at the Charlestown Navy Yard next Tuesday to pass upon thirty-six lieutenants on the Construction Corps, who are eligible for promotion. The board will consist of Captain J. G. Twasey of Washington, Captain Elliot Snow, Captain Henry Williams and Lieutenant-Commander Ellsbey.

ASHES OF DEAD UPSET POLICE

New Owner of Providence House Finds Urn Hidden in Closet

Providence, R. I., Sept. 8.—The remains of Willard Filmore Chase, aged sixty-nine, who was cremated at Massachusetts Crematory, April 23, 1918, have upset the tranquility of the police department.

Mrs. Mary Phillips, who bought the house No. 174 Clifford street, where the box containing the ashes was found, did not want the gruesome reminder, so Dr. Clifford H. Griffin, medical examiner and police surgeon, will act as caretaker until the problem is solved. Mrs. Phillips turned the box over to the police, saying she found it in a closet.

A Mrs. Mary Manning, a former tenant, did not discover the box, and says she knows nothing about it. The police are unable to find relatives of the deceased, as our tenants have occupied the house since April, 1918.

The physician's id undertaker's certificates with the box say Willard Filmore Chase died of pleural pneumonia April 18, 1918 and was cremated April 23 and the box sent to this city by express the following day.

What about the clothier who does the right thing?

YOU hear a lot about profiteering in clothing Wherever it exists it can't be condemned too severely

Something ought to be said, however, for the merchants who have been taking only a fair profit; merchants who have tried to help their customers meet high costs

There are many such merchants

They are meeting the situation fairly and squarely with nothing but good quality because they know it is economy

When they couldn't get enough fine goods, they turned down sales rather than sell "cheap" stuff

They cut their margins of profit in order to help relieve the strain of high prices

They say to their customers, "Come back and get your money if you aren't satisfied"

We believe that the merchants who sell our clothes are doing everything they can to reduce costs for you We think you ought to know it

LIVELY COMEDY AT PLYMOUTH

"Mrs. Jimmie Thompson" Is Adept at Keeping Audiences Guessing

"Mrs. Jimmie Thompson" keeps them guessing at the Plymouth Theatre. This marital mix-up is destined to have a successful run during its two weeks here, basing that prediction upon the reception given it at the opening matinee, Labor Day. Incidentally, it ushered in the new season at the Plymouth.

Joseph Klaw presents the farce-comedy. Norman S. Rose and Edith Ellis are the authors. This being leap year, the play at times and the producers have taken advantage of every opportunity their subject—a tangle of romances—has to offer.

PARTS WELL PLAYED.

Boarding houses furnish the scene for many a play. This one is different. The cast is complete from the "over-worked" stenographer to the mischievous maid. The parts are played with the ease of experience.

The story has to do with a girl who is very desirous of experiencing the uncertainties of matrimony. Gladys Hurlburt strikes this part. It seems that she is touched by the inattention of one self-styled woman hater. She is unnoticed until she pretends to be Mrs. Jimmie Thompson.

COMEDY PROVIDES FUN.

Unknown to her the real Mrs. Thompson lives in the same house with her, and when friend Jimmie returns from the West there is not a little excitement in said lodging house. Anita Rothe as the genuine Mrs. Jimmie Thompson does her bit admirably.

There is an incidental romance that complicates things and the way the snarl is unravelled furnishes many a chuckle, even to a wedding and the antics of an over-earnest bridegroom. Mina Phillips as Madame the Housekeeper is well fitted for the part. The other members of the cast are good.

FALL SEASON OF "POPS" IS OPENED

A five weeks' Fall season of the Pops was inaugurated last night in Symphony Hall with Agide Jacchia conducting.

In spite of the weather there was scarcely an empty table in the hall, while vacant seats in either of the balconies were few. The assemblage was conspicuously one of music lovers, who listened with wrapt attention to the program throughout and several times enthused so highly that encores were forthcoming.

Jacchia was given a hearty welcome.

ARLINGTON GIRL BRIDE OF WORLD WAR VETERAN

Miss Helen Brown Patriquin, daughter of Mrs. George Patriquin of Arlington, was married to Carl William Alsen, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Alsen of No. 20 Swan place, Arlington, last evening, in the home of the bride's mother at No. 74 Mount Vernon street, that town. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry Sterling Potter, D. D., pastor of the Arlington First Baptist Church. Mr. Alsen is a veteran of the late war, having served in the Aviation Corps. The bride is a graduate of the Arlington High School.

Department heads at the Charlestown Navy Yard have been notified in an order from Washington that no vacancies in their departments at the yard shall be filled for the present.

"VAMP" SCORES AS COY WIDOW

Helen Bolton, "Operatic Theda Bara," Succeeds in New Role at Globe

"Once a vamp, always a vamp," is one of the axioms of the show business, but Helen Bolton has demonstrated that she can escape from her reputation and succeed in quite another line.

In "Pitter Patter," the new musical comedy at the Globe Theatre, Miss Bolton plays a sweet and demure widow, which is quite mild for the operatic Theda Bara.

Helen Bolton studied singing in Paris under Mme. Marchesi, and appeared at the Opera Comique. At the beginning of the war she returned to her home in California, and no operatic opportunities being open, took a role in a stock company where she played an adventuress.

Her first appearance in New York was in "Mother Carey's Chickens." Then came "It Pays to Flirt," "Oh, Lady Lady," "Honeymoon Town," "See Saw" and "The Golden Girl." These were all vamp roles, but in "Pitter Patter" she has renounced that end of the game.

With "Pitter Patter" the Globe has reverted to the legitimate drama and a long line of first class attractions will be booked there by Erlanger.

MUSICAL SHOW FINDS FAVOR

"Look Who's Here" at Arlington Features Cecil Lean and Cleo Mayfield

Cecil Lean and an able supporting cast returned to Boston yesterday with the musical farce, "Look Who's Here." Fair-sized audiences greeted the popular comedian at the afternoon and evening performances at the Arlington.

Lean as the writer of romantic novels whose own romance gets all tangled up, gave an even more finished performance than on his last visit to Boston with the same show, early last season.

He was capably assisted in the funmaking by "The Cleo Mayfield." Cleo officiates as a matrimonial expert, she still has the lazy drawl, wicked smile and stimulating personality which has made her such a favorite with musical comedy fans.

"Look Who's Here" is good entertainment. It has tolerable music, very funny situations and—Cecil and Cleo.

Julia Sanderson gave a good performance as Caroline, wife of the novelist, and sang several catchy songs effectively. Others in the cast included Walter Armin, Marilynn Miller, Katherine Clark, Florence Clarke, Mario Villani, Stanley Warner, Sylvia De Frankie, Edwin Rogers and Mabel Lynesi.

SPRINGFIELD TAILORS END STRIKE; GET RAISE

Springfield, Sept. 8.—Journeymen tailors and helpers return to work today with wage increases from five to ten per cent. after a week's strike.

The men went out last Wednesday demanding $10 minimum for journeymen and $24 for helpers.

A Sure Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

25 NORTHWAYS IN PARADE

Popular Truck Played Leading Part in Labor Day Fete at Natick

One of the features of the Labor Day parade at Natick, in which every manufacturing interest was represented, was the fleet of twenty-five Northway trucks. The Northway Corporation is one of the latest industries to be added to Massachusetts and the plant at Natick is running on a good production schedule.

The trucks in the parade Monday, and which have been seen on the streets of Boston, are to be sent over the roads to the various branches.

The officers of the company predict a monthly increase in production until the full quota is reached, approximately three hundred trucks per month.

Sales Manager M. S. Beebe of the Northway Motor Sales Company, which distributes the entire output of the factory, is loud in his praises of the Northway Truck and believes that the service policy which he has introduced will give Northway owners entire satisfaction.

In fact it is difficult to imagine a more liberal service policy than that of this company, which will operate a day and night service plan, with emergency trucks ready to either repair on the road or transfer loads and continue to the destination.

UNIONS WILL FIGHT ANTI-PICKET DECISION

Manchester, N. H., Sept. 8. — Chief Justice John J. Kivel of the Superior Court has handed down a ruling sustaining the injunction granted the Grimes Restaurant Company of this city, restraining the Cooks and Waiters' Union from picketing the company's places of business.

Officers of the union declare that the ruling will probably mean that the case will be taken to the Supreme Court.

NEW FREIGHT BOAT FOR NEW YORK LINE

A new freight steamer, the Norwalk, will soon be placed in service between here and New York by the Eastern Steamship lines. On Friday the vessel is to be given official tests by the builders at Wilmington, Del. The Norwalk is 261 feet long with deadweight capacity of 3,000 tons and will be commanded by Captain H. H. Crowell, commodore of the line.

ASK MR. FIXIT

Dear Mr. Fixit—I have a 1921 Mets and when starting the friction wheel runs towards the centre of the drive, and I cannot hold the drive from going forward. Any information preventing this would be very much appreciated.

T. H. G., Headville.

Your probable trouble is that your transmission is out of alignment. You should have this fixed so so that the friction wheel will hit squarely against the drive wheel.

Dear Mr. Fixit—I am the owner of a late 1917 Mets touring car, and I would like very much to receive some of your valuable information. Now I have quite a little trouble with my motor in this way. While I am in the city I run it slowly and it runs smoothly, but the moment I open it wide it knocks badly. I had the car in my garage for a month, and would start it, and it would run fine, but the moment I got out on the road it would knock. Now when I advance the spark when I am in high gear the knock is worse. A garage man said it probably was a loose cam or timing shaft. Could I fix it myself? I have not noticeable it might be a bearing knock. Thank you.

Dear Sir—Let me tell you exactly what I have asked you for in the past. Be concise and exact as you will and you have been a wonderful help.

Your trouble is probably what is known as "piston slap." Your motor is quite old and the loose rod has allowed the piston to wear quite a groove in the cylinder, and as long as the rod is loose you cannot have the correct and most powerful explosion taking place. The piston, which is made of cast iron, is quick, which makes a decided piston "slap." This will always occur in such cases. The only remedy is to have a new cylinder and piston put in. If your cylinder is worn you may have to have an oversized piston. You could have no such thing as a "knock" as the bearings are out inward with the same shaft.

IDEAL AUTO TRIP TO FLORIDA

Best Motor Roads Are Included in Route Provided by W. B. Powell

Many inquiries have been received regarding the best motor roads to Florida, and the following routes are furnished by W. B. Powell, secretary of Lake County Chamber of Commerce and vice-president of the Florida State Automobile Association, and this information can be accepted on his authority.

From New York via Washington, Richmond, Raleigh, Columbia, Greenwood, Charlotte, Anderson, Greer, Spartanburg, Greer at Hartwell, Ga., Athens to Macon, Ga., via Wheeling, W. Va., over National Pike to Washington or diverge at Hagerstown, Md., over Shenandoah Valley route to Staunton, Va., and connect with above route to Macon.

From St. Louis and West over Dixie Highway to Nashville, Tenn.

From West and Southwest via Memphis to Nashville.

From Nashville ask of Dixie Highway Road Engineer regarding best route to Chattanooga. If not season go via Huntsville, Ala., 50 miles further, to Atlanta and Macon (or take short route to Fort Valley).

From Macon go via Fort Valley, Americus, Albany, Thomasville, Quitman, Ga., Madison, Fla., Lake City, High Springs, Gainesville, Ocala to Lewsburg.

Lewsburg is diverging centre for good road system to East and West Coast, Central and Southern Florida.

From Lewsburg south to Groveland, Auburndale, Lakeland, Tampa.

Diverge Lakeland for Fort Myers, etc.

Diverge Tampa for St. Petersburg, etc.

Diverge Tampa for Bradenton, Sarasota, etc.

Lewsburg east to Tavares, Clermont, Orlando, Kissimmee, Auburndale.

Lewsburg east to Ocala, Micanopy, Gainesville, Starke, Jacksonville.

Lewsburg diverge to Sanford.

Northern diverge for New Smyrna or DeLand and Daytona Beach coast—south to Miami.

Hotels in St. Augustine and Jacksonville.

Lewsburg south to Leesburg, Seattle and Altoona to DeLand and East Coast.

By following these instructions most points in Florida can be reached over improved highways and with very little additional mileage. The Florida routes as specified above are the ones used by Floridians.

LEGION HEADS WARN POSTS ON POLITICS

Commander James T. Duane and State Adjutant Leo A. Spillane of the Massachusetts Department, American Legion, today called the attention of various posts to the following by-law adopted at the recent State convention: "The Department of Massachusetts of the American Legion, or any post thereof, shall not endorse, nor condone, by vote or any concerted action of the body, the candidacy of an aspirant for political office."

AUTO "SPLASH" A NUISANCE

Drivers Urged to Be More Careful and Not Throw Mud on Pedestrians

Have you ever waited at a curb to let an automobile pass, only to have the driver go by at full speed and throw mud and dirty water all over you from a puddle in his path?

There are occasionally times when a motorist may not be held responsible for a splashup of this sort, yet it cannot be denied that this is one offense for which the driver seldom has any justification. A slight turn of the wheel could nearly always keep the vehicle out of the puddle, or a slight reduction in speed would make it possible to get through without splashing.

Many a woman gowned in dainty attire, has had her costume ruined by mud and water and has watched the car go on its way, with the driver quite unconcerned over the damage he has done. She knows it would do no good to take his number, for the offense he has committed lies just outside the pale of the law.

To the motorist the incident is usually of no moment and quickly forgotten. But to the pedestrian who sustained the mud bath there is the annoyance due to the damage to his clothes, and the mental wear and tear which accompany futile rage.

The great body of motorists is to be congratulated, says the United States Tire Company, on the fact that this sort of driver is decidedly in the minority.

H. F. WARDWELL ELECTED AS NEW BRISCOE HEAD

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Briscoe Motor Corporation, held in New York city recently, H. F. Wardwell was elected president to succeed F. Gowin. Mr. Wardwell was formerly a railroad man. For the past few years he has been president of the Burnside Steel Co.

In taking up my new work I find the outlook very promising," stated Mr. Wardwell. "Production at our factories in Michigan is being steadily increased, and we hope by the end of the month to have it up to requirements necessary to fill the orders booked by our sales department. I contemplate few, if any, changes in the personnel of our staff, as all Briscoe executives are men of broad experience in their respective lines."

Ralph Mulford Joins Paige Company

Ralph Mulford, since Barney Oldfield's retirement from the racing field, the oldest driver in point of experience in the automobile world, has joined the organization of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co. and will devote his entire time and energy to the interests of the Paige product.

Mr. Mulford is known to every motor car fan in the country as a man who has starred in many a hard-fought battle on the race track, who is a headliner in the thrilling game of breaking records and winning contests whether it be a 500-mile grind, a cross-the-continent jaunt, a straight-away or a mountain-climbing stunt. He has made many world records.

Mr. Mulford as a Paige expert will devote his time to exploiting this famous line of cars in demonstrations of power, speed and endurance on both track and road.

PRIZE BICYCLES ON EXHIBITION

Awards for Best Riding on American Run in Wright and Ditson's Window

The six high grade bicycles to be awarded to participants in next Sunday's big bicycle run of the Boston American from Copley square to Chestnut Hill Reservoir for riding most correctly during the six miles of pedaling are now being displayed in a window of Wright & Ditson's sporting goods store, No. 344 Washington street.

The person coming from the farthest distance who will participate in Sunday's outing is Edward P. Burnham of Hemet, California, champion tricycle rider of the world. He moved to California from Newton, Mass., fifteen years ago. Burnham will ride a high wheel with the old-timers.

He has also consented to act as one of the three judges to determine which of the safety bicycle riders shall be awarded machines for the best exhibition of correct riding during the run. The other judges are Frank Gibbs of Winthrop, a Boston business man who is a former high wheel champion. The third judge is C. J. (Josh) Young of Cambridge, the 24-hour high wheel champion.

Fred St. Onge, Edward Kaphael, a widely-known old timer, and Louis Kleh of Belmont will be the judges of the high wheel riding. The exhibition of trick riding by boys and girls under eighteen at the Reservoir, for which a $70 bicycle will be awarded, is to be judged by St. Onge and Kleh, who are probably the best trick riders who ever appeared on the vaudeville stage.

WOMAN ACCUSES EX-DRY AGENT

Mrs. Alice Nolan Says Fred R. Lawrence Lured Her From Husband

Fred R. Lawrence, forced out of the prohibition enforcement service after he had used his Elk's card to get evidence, was arrested by the Chelsea police following the story of Mrs. Alice Nolan, twenty years old, who declared she had been living with Lawrence on Washington street, Chelsea, since last March.

Mrs. Nolan told her story at a private hearing before Judge Brown. She accused Lawrence of luring her away from her husband, forcing her onto the street, taking money from her and beating her. She said she earned and turned over to him $2,500, and that when he did not think she had earned enough money he would beat her.

She told the court she made plans recently to leave Lawrence and enter a hospital as a student nurse. She was to go to her new position last Monday.

When her "protector" sarned of her plans he was enraged, she said, discovering that she had "held out" $10 with which to make her new start, she said, he gave her a terrific beating and took the money from her.

Lawrence, who was released on bail, attracted attention some months ago when he obtained liquor from an Elk named Nugent by use of an Elk's card and then caused the arrest of his fraternity brother for violating the prohibition amendment.

Lawrence appeared in the Chelsea Court today and was held for a hearing next Friday.

OUIMET AND WRIGHT AMONG FAVORITES IN TITLE GOLF TOURNEY

BAY STATE STARS WIN MATCHES

Herron, Present Champion, Forced to Limit to Win—Armour Beats Hoffner

By ROBERT E. HARLOW.

Roslyn, L. I., Sept. 8.—With the field reduced to sixteen stars play was resumed today on the Engineers Club course in the second round for the National Amateur golf championship. Weather conditions were ideal and some fine matches were looked for.

J. Platt of Philadelphia and S. Davison Herron, the present champion shared the gallery with Tommy Armour of Scotland and Philip Carter Armour, the only foreigner remaining in the competition, in giving the Americans plenty to worry over.

Other matches on today's schedule were: Chick Evans vs. Reginald Lewis; Robert Gardner vs. W. C. Fownes, Jr.; E. P. Allis vs. Oswald Kirby; Francis Ouimet vs. J. M. Mack, Bobby Jones vs. Frank Dyer and Jesse Sweetser vs. Fred J. Wright, Jr.

Massachusetts is doing well in this biggest of all amateur golf championships as Francis Ouimet and Fredk Wright were still in the running

Freddy Wright Real Find of Tournament

Freddy Wright is the real find of the tournament up to date. Besides being level with Bobby Jones at the top of the field in the qualifying round, Freddy gave Albert Seckel, former Western amateur champion a big beating in the first round and in doing it shot the outward nine holes of his afternoon round in 31, two under par. He had seven fours and two threes on the card.

Ouimet was not as convincing a second Richard Hoffner of Atlanta as the Massachusetts delegation here would have preferred, but he nosed out a win by a safe margin and no one has done any worrying concerning his game. He should win easily from Jack Tolley and go against Tommy Armour, the Scotchman Thursday if Armour wins from Philip Carter today as expected.

Some of the Ouimet-Evans rivalry is already being worked up. Ouimet fans believe that Saturday it will be Ouimet vs. Evans in the finals. Evans is in the upper half of the draw. He passed into the second round with absolute precision defeating Albert W. Newton, the Massachusetts team captain, by an 8 and 7 score. Evans was nine up in the morning when he shot a 72, the best round of the tournament to date.

Ouimet Hit Some Fine Seconds

In his match with Hickey, Ouimet did not produce anything startling in medal scoring. Hickey is a good one and later, yet he led Francis one up at the seventeenth hole. But Ouimet pulled out the match and showed plenty of signs of having enough stuff to go much better if pressed. While he ruined his medal score by taking a number of sixes and at least one or two sevens, he showed the gallery how to get birdies as well.

Ouimet hit some fine seconds which had more stuff attached than any balls hit in the tournament. They struck the green and stayed there giving him putts for birds. He also rank his share of long putts.

Wright led Seckel by three holes in the first round and then went out in 34 on the second trip against Seckel's 36. Seckel was discouraged when he found he had gone out par, but was two more down to Fredhere is Wright's cut card.

4 4 4 4 3 4 4 4 3—34

S Davidson Herron, present champion signed his way into the second round after the strangest finish ever witnessed in an important golf contest in America last night with Peter Harmon a kid from the Scottish-American Club of New York, he found himself all square after the thirty-sixth. The first and second additional holes were halved in fours.

Herron Makes Longest Drive of Day

On the thirty-ninth hole Harmon gave up after he had driven his second shot out of bounds, declining to continue though he had to go by his opponent.

At the first extra hole Herron hit the longest tee shot of the tournament. Harmon had driven well down the middle and Davy banged his 75 yards beyond, leaving himself a mashie niblick to the 415 yard green.

Tommy Armour, the only foreign player who remains in this championship, had the toughest sort of a time to beat George Hoffner, of Philadelphia. The match ended on the home green, where Armour got a four to Hoffner's five.

Armour led Hoffner by three holes at the end of the first round, but Hoffner cut it to the second round and at one time was two up. Hoffner shot four birds in five holes, taking a two at the eighth, a one at the tenth and threes at the eleventh and twelfth and winning each hole from Armour, although the Scotchman played each in par.

Bobby Jones, Oswald, Kirkby, and Bob Gardner all came through easily.

Grand Jury Takes Up Baseball Scandal

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 8.—Chief Justice McDonald of the criminal court and the state's attorney's office have placed the investigation of alleged gambling on baseball games here in the hands of the September grand jury. The investigation is the result of allegations made a few days ago that big sums of money were bet on the games between the Chicago and Philadelphia Nationals here on August 31, which the Quaker team won by 3 to 0. Chief Justice McDonald declared that under the state gambling laws the court would do everything possible to keep baseball pure and clean-cut from the selling of pools on the games as a "profitless business that should be wiped out and the promoters thereof should be indicted and prosecuted.

"They came to me and I helped them out"

MONTHS ago, I knew they were coming and I waited for them. I figured that many of the more eminent makers of high priced hats were riding for a fall. I figured that with prices on the decline, the retail trade would not pay the high prices these high and mighty hat manufacturers were asking.

The eminent hat makers figured the dealers would have to. But they figured wrong—for the retailers bought lower priced hats from lower grade makers. The result

When the retail hat buying season was about over for the fall, these makers found they didn't have enough orders to keep their plants going.

Then they rushed to me. They knew I hadn't placed an order for my 50 stores. They just had to have orders to keep their plants running, utilize their raw materials, pay their overhead and retain their skilled labor.

I gave them orders—all they wanted of them but at my prices.

And now, I take great pride in offering the most remarkable values in the history of hat retailing. A wonderful assortment of genuine

$6 & $8 Hats All at one price 4.35

These are by far the finest felts that ever entered my stores. They're the quality you'll find only at the highest priced and most exclusive hatters. They're regular $6 and $8 hats from every standpoint. There's no mistaking that fact.

Mark this well—they're finished with those rich, wide, silk bands with bows in the back, that every smart dresser will insist on this fall and which you will find nowhere else at less than $6 and $8. Full leather sweatbands—of course, and brims bound, welted or raw edge as you prefer

There are more good styles than you'll find anywhere. Everything that's new and smart and becoming. Every color and shade endorsed by fashion. Every size and style of block to meet the varying demands of different types of faces.

My windows tell the story. Go to the Kaufman Shop—even if it takes you a few moments out of your way. My windows will show you genuine $6 and $8 Felts at one price..... 4.35

RED SOX ON WAY TO CHICAGO

Final Visit to Washington Results in Even Split—Menosky the Star

Washington, Sept. 8.—The Red Sox and Senators split on the fifty fifty basis, the latter grabbing the first game 5 to 1 while the second went to the former, 5 to 3

The Sox are on the road today bound for Chicago, where they book up for a series with the White Sox.

Had Manager Barrow stuck to his original plan of working Bush and Myers, a double victory would more than probably gone his way but he shifted to Harry Harper in the first game and before this erratic southpaw could be yanked, the contest was over.

Menosky's mighty swat over the right field fence tallied the Red Sox's run.

An outfielder by the name of Pascal from Charlotte of the South Atlantic League, reported to Manager Barrow and was shoved into the second game. If this boy can perform as he did today Barrow has landed a jewel. He got three singles and a walk out of five times up and in the field handled himself like a real ball player

TAD'S TIDBITS

WHERE MORAN FALLS DOWN

Frank Moran, owner of the famous Mary Ann, has been matched to meet Bob Martin at Madison Square Garden in the near future.

Sporting writers, in commenting on the match, speak of nothing but Moran's heart. Oh, what a heart has Francis! Tra la la, and so forth.

We'll admit that Francis has a heart. He admits it also. His heart might be very grateful to him. Waiting for the other guy to quit never got many men near the top.

Moran has won many a fight with his game stand. He has made many a heavy turn pale and later turn tail, but it can't last forever.

They say, "Oh, if Sulton had Moran's heart, what a bear he'd be!" Yea, yea, but IF Moran had Fulton's science along with that iron heart, what a whale HE'D BE.

A fighter needs more than heart to win fights. Terry McGovern had a heart as stout as Moran's, but with it he had speed and boxing ability. John L. Sullivan had a heart like an ox also, but he was fast, he was aggressive, he hit and he kept hitting.

Battling Nelson was no mosquito when it came to owning a stout heart. He was no flutterer.

Along with his heart he had a desire to tear in. He never stopped. Had Nelson stood in the centre of the ring and posed and wondered and waited he'd have been knocked silly long before his time.

If Moran can get going again and fight instead of standing still and wondering he has a chance to climb up that ladder again. Forget that heart, Francis, and get down to boxing again.

"Death Due to Carless Driving," says a headline. As a matter of fact, if the driving had been carless instead of carless there wouldn't have been any death.

We know some men that we hope will never be outfitted with goat glands. Their propensity to "butt in" is too great already.

German efficiency methods have discovered a means to make wearing apparel of nettles. We always supposed new woolen heavies were made of something like that.

BENNETTS DID NOT PLAY IN FALL RIVER GAMES

Sporting Editor,
Boston American.

I wish it understood that the Bennett A. A. of Somerville did not play in Fall River last Saturday and Monday. This is to correct an impression that prevails among Bennett rooters and others. The team that represents itself as the Bennett A. A. has no right to the name and their use of it has served to hinder the team under my management more than once this season. I have tried several times to book games in Fall River, but much to my regret have been unable to do so. While on the subject of baseball, I wish to state that the Bennetts are eager to arrange Sunday games in Rhode Island and are particularly anxious to take on the Woonsocket Knights of Columbus.

Very truly yours,
JAMES J. HEALEY,

DEMPSEY WANTS TO KAYO ALL HEAVIES

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Jack Dempsey is intent upon complete conquest of the pugilistic world.

"I am fit and ready now to travel along with anybody," declared the champion. "Jack Kearns cannot drag the boys into the ring any too fast to suit me. It is my ambition to knock out, not merely outpoint, every fighter in the heavyweight rank today—or in the near future. Then and only then will I be satisfied and feel that I really am a world champion."

The champion received $35,000 for his bout with Billy Miske.

Harvard Grid Squad Starts With 100

Harvard's football forces number one hundred. Additional candidates for the team bring the Crimson's total up to that figure. Keith Kane and Duke Sedgwick, the tackles on last year's eleven are still missing but are looked for later in the week. They are the only veterans out of the fold.

Captain Arnold Horwe... views the coming season with quiet confidence. With Coach Fisher, he is not underestimating the strength of Princeton and Yale, but that material is so promising across the field this pair are firm in the belief that Coolidge and Dick Lamb, Lamb and Lewis are dividing the coaching, while the other is looking after the rush line.

Billie Murray, last year's captain and Fred Hamlin are fixing up the backs, with Jimmie Knox acting as a general capacity preventive by taking charge of the second team.

What Has Happened So Far

Alice Hale, brought up in a convent in New Orleans has often puzzled over the identity of her father and mother. Whom she has never known. Very beautiful, she is regarded by all the other girls save one, a little jealously. The exception, Mabel Andrews, daughter of a rich lumber man, admires her for her sweetness and secures permission from her father to bring Alice with her to spend a vacation at their home. Alice is overjoyed

Screen Version Novelized

By Jane McLean

"OF course I was interested in you," said Mabel. Father was interested, too, from the first time I wrote—you see, my dear, my not having a mother myself made me feel for you, and even if father is worth a lot of money he's just as simple and sympathetic as though he didn't have a cent."

"Oh, I know that—he must be. That's one reason why I'm so glad to go."

"And there won't be a house full of people, just the four of us."

"Four?"

"Yes, my brother Jimmie, you're sure to like him."

When the gate of Convent opened to the two girls they went forth the one a joyous go de, the other a happy pilgrim. And all through the journey by train and boat to the Andrews home, Alice reflected in a serene smile the gratitude of real friendship.

Mr. Andrews with a sense of the fitness of things that did credit to his judgment, still clung to the horse as the dignified means of transportation between station and his old mansion. He explained that it seemed more in keeping with the traditions of the house to appear under the big porte cochere drawn by a pair of blooded grays than to whirl up with honkings and gratings in a modern six-cylinder auto.

Alice Agreed

Alice thought so too as they came along a curving driveway through an avenue of trees to the white colonial portico standing like a beneficent sentinel over wide lawns and picturesque flower beds.

Her welcome was in keeping with her invitation. She felt as she shook hands with the gray-haired gran who looked at her so kindly that if she could only have known her own father she would like to have had him resemble Mr. Andrews.

"Jim's not at home," said he, kissing his daughter. "The house is yours. What can I do to help you enjoy yourself?"

"I just stay around and play with us," answered his daughter, hugging him.

He laughed taking the compliment for what it was worth. "If I were Jim's age that might appeal to me," he said with a glance at Alice.

"Where is Jim?" Mabel broke in.

"Working in the mills—don't look so alarmed, he'll be here off and on."

"Isn't it splendid he's doing so well?" cried his sister enthusiastically.

"Yes," her father nodded as a pleased look lighted his eye. "they call him a regular guy in the mills—and that's some compliment."

A Bit of Imagination

The girls repaired to their room and the man stood looking after them. Into his mind came a thought—this orphan girl with the sweet face made a tremendous appeal to him—he pictured Jim's friend as such a girl—then he smiled at his own charity—shrugged his shoulders and drifted off into a train of thought that led him back to his own early days when money seemed unattainable until romance had lifted him along the road to prosperity.

The days with Mabel came and went, each with new delights but Alice had been there a week before Jimmie made his appearance.

He met his sister in the dining-room. "Hello, lady! Hear you've brought a man-killer home with you."

Mabel glanced toward the hall. "Not so loud, Jimmie; she'll hear you."

"She'll be flattered, won't she? What's she like—tall and thin, I suppose wears glasses and—" He stopped short, and his eyes rested in the figure of Alice appearing in the doorway.

His greeting was almost exuberant. "So you're Miss Hale," they shook hands and Jimmie Andrews felt an unusual pounding of his heart. He sister laughed.

"You mustn't mind Jimmie Alice. You see, in the lumber mills he doesn't meet young ladies, so I when he does he doesn't know quite what to do."

"I guess that's right," said the young man still vowing to himself that he'd never seen a girl who compared with his sister's friend in any and all points of girlish loveliness.

Wears spectacles; rather thin," said Mabel as Alice went up the stairs. "You're a prophet, Jimmie".

"Is she going to stay right through?" asked the young man.

"Unless you want me to send her back."

"Say"—her took her arm—"you girls must be sort of lonesome here. I'll suggest to father that I blow a week off and help amuse you—always anxious to have you enjoy yourself, lady."

"So sweet of you, Jimmie! We'll arrange it so that father can take charge of Alice, and you and I will have the loveliest times together."

When Hearts Are Trumps

CHAPTER LVI.

Copyright 1920, Star Company

MRS. MARKOE had been advised of the proposed visit of the future mistress of John Brandon's home, and she met the Paiges in the hall as they entered. She greeted them politely, if rather stiffly, then accompanied them on their round of the rooms.

Cynthia was voluble in her praise of the house—its size, its air of stability.

"It is all as I remember it in your mother's day, John," she observed.

Mrs. Markoe smiled—a chilly gleam that did not reach her eyes.

"Thank you, Miss Paige, for saying that. I have tried to keep it as Mrs. Brandon liked to have it. Naturally, that would be what her son wants also."

They had reached the second floor of the house, and Barbara had scarcely spoken a word. But she had noted with dismay the furnishings of a day gone by—the heavy black walnut sideboard and table in the dining room, the damask lambrequins in the drawing room, the gigantic bunches of roses on the moquette carpet. And she must live with all of these!

Roused Her

Her betrothed's voice roused her from her gloomy reverie.

"Well, Barbara, have you no suggestions?"

"I would not want you to change what has always suited you," she evaded. "Unless there is something that you, yourself, really want altered."

John Brandon smiled. "I do not want anything altered except to suit your ideas, my dear Barbara."

Cynthia spoke quickly. "Why not wait until she is settled here, John? Then she can decide what she wants. But I do not see myself why you should make any changes at all."

"Yes!" Arthur ventured. "I have an idea that Rab likes those same tight, unsubstantial things." If one may judge by the way she has her own room furnished."

"How?" Brandon demanded.

Arthur ignored his sister's warning glance.

"Oh, well, girlishly, I suppose—with a white bed and white-and-pink curtains at the windows and gray-and-pink rag rugs on the floor. I had it fixed up like that for her on her twentieth birthday."

"I can have one of these rooms furnished like that," Brandon began, but his housekeeper interrupted him

Interpellations

"Don't you think, Mr. Brandon, that a large bedroom like yours would look odd transformed into a pink and white boudoir? And what would you do with your mother's handsome articles—that she loved so much?"

Cynthia seconded the objection.

"What Barbara had in our simple home would be quite out of place here. Moreover" with emphasis, "that is all very well for a young girl But Barbara will some here as a matron"

Barbara's hands were clenched for a moment. Arthur observed this, although the others did not But when she spoke her tone was low and steady

"Aunt is right and Mrs. Markoe is right," she said. "I am only a girl now, and I may change my mind later. Please do not go to any trouble in fixing things up for me, John

When they reached the lower floor the "ggest for a minute alone in the drawing room while the others went out to survey the kitchen.

Her uncle, missing her came back for her. He found her standing in the middle of the room, looking around her

"What are you thinking of, Bab dear?" he queried gently.

"I was wondering," with an hysterical giggle, "just on what spot the coffin of poor Mrs. Brandon stood. Right there, I suppose—where that awful vase is," pointing to a place near the window where there was a small table bearing a huge Bohemian glass vase. "And the room looks as it did then—and as it always will look.

The Fate of the Usurper

"Oh, uncle," with a shiver, "isn't it rather dreadful—don't you think?"

But, as he put his arm about her and drew her to him, she pulled away.

"Forgive me for saying that," she pleaded. "I was only in fun. Of course, the entire house is hands some, and I should be grateful that I am to have such a home. Now, let us join the others."

Before he could check her, she had run from him out into the kitchen. Here she looked around with well-feigned interest, forcing a smile to her lips.

"What a lovely, big room!" she exclaimed "If it was mine I would spend most of my time here, it is so sunny and bright."

"You would ruin your maids if you did," Mrs Markoe said severely

The smile faded from the young lips. "I suppose I would." Barbara admitted. "But I could come here and do some cooking, couldn't I?"

"Indeed you could" John Brandon replied affectionately.

Mrs. Markoe's thin smile. She felt that silly little Barbara Paige was a usurper

A Couple of Pets

A young dancy was walking down a street, when he was overtaken by a dog that began to snap at his heels. His mistress made no effort to call it off, so he turned and gave the dog an admonitory kick. "Brutes!" cried the woman, "to kick a little defenceless animal!. That little creature is a pet, and is not accustomed to such treatment." "I beg your pardon, madam, I did not mean to hurt your dog. But you should have called it off" "It would not have hurt you; it is a pet." "I did not care to be bitten by it, nevertheless, madam. I am somewhat of a favorite at home myself."

A MOTHER'S TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE

West Burton, (Ma.)—To read of Mrs. Arthur Campbell's experience is harrowing. Imagine her feelings—she writes: "I am a mother of five children. My little girl two years old was so sick with fever she lay just as if she were dead for two weeks. I started giving her Dr. True's Elixir and she began to gain at once. Now I would be lost without it. I feel very grateful to you."

No doubt this child had some stomach trouble at the beginning, perhaps of children's diseases and their mothers don't know the trouble.

Symptoms of worms: Deranged stomach, feeble vision, ill humor, sudden, sharp cries, hard and full belly, with pain about the navel, pain here, there and all, with no trouble, itching of the nose and rectum, dry cough, grinding of the teeth in the sleep, starting during the night, slow fever.

Dr. True's Elixir has been faithful in this as in a family Laxative and Worm Expeller since 1851.—Advertisement.

Bachelor Girl's Reflections

By HELEN ROWLAND

Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

GENERALLY speaking, men may be divided into three classes—bachelors, husbands and widowers. Bachelors are a commodity, husbands a necessity, and widowers a luxury—especially in the gentle art of love-making.

Every time a woman reads a newspaper account of a Lothario's escapades, she sighs and looks at her husband suspiciously; every time a man reads one, he smiles to himself and looks a little envious.

In ancient Arabia, the formal announcement of divorce was, "Begone!" For I will no longer drive thy flocks to the pasture!" But the modern American formula is "Sling! I do hope you'll like the climate of Reno." Which, to say the least, is much more polite.

Men may guess how a woman manages to get into this year's evening gown—but it will always be a deep mystery to them how she manages to keep it on.

There are almost as many little ready "advisers" to tell you what is the matter with your motor car when it balks as there are to tell you what is the matter with your husband when he is fractious.

Persiflage: Before marriage, an impertinence in frills. After marriage, a slam with i's collar off.

Why wives are so dull: [redacted] marriage, a man greets a woman's attempts at witty repartee with a laugh; after marriage, he greets them with a grunt.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

Grandma Kept her locks dark, glossy and youthful with a simple mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening grey, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the musty mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This readyto-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

ABOUT OUR GOOD FRIEND

Mulvaney

Copyright, 1920, by The Ledger Syndicate

MULVANEY

VARIATIONS—O'Mulvaney, Mulleny, O'Mulvena, Melvin, MacIlvena, MacIlwane, MacIlvain.

RACIAL ORIGIN—Irish; also Scottish.

SOURCE—A given name.

IT would be hard to find a set of family names in one group which are so little associated with one another in the average mind. Yet they all come from the same source

Certain of them, such as Melvin, MacIlwane and MacIlvain, are, perhaps, more commonly found among families of Scottish blood in this country. The Mulvaneys, O'Mulvenys, Mulleny and O'Mulvena are more likely to be of Irish extraction, certainly so in those names which are preceded by "O."

Like virtually all the Gaelic names, the great diversity of spelling in these different forms is the result of the attempt to spell the names in English as they sound in their original Celtic tongue rather than to transcribe the Celtic spelling into the English equivalent.

If this latter were done the correct form of the name would be "O'Maolfhiona," or "MacMaolfhiona." It is from the latter form that the Scottish variations of the name are derived through the elimination, for easier pronunciation, of the initial "M" in the body of the name, thus, "MacMaolfhiona" is easily transformed, in view of its pronunciation, into "MacIlvain."

The family or clan name comes from the given name of "Maolfiona," the meaning of which is "devotee of wine." Such a name, of course, was considered no disgrace in the distant past, when it was formed, long before the period even of Mohammed, the first prohibitionist.

Tomorrow—Hitchcock.

Advice to the Lovelorn

A Spur to Success

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX.

I am twenty-three and have been going about with a girl of eighteen. I am deeply in love with her and she has assured me that my love is returned. However, I am in no position financially at present to consider marriage and I can see no prospects for the immediate future, although I will use my best efforts toward that end

Still, I do not care to tie this girl down, though she insists that she could never care for any other man and is willing to take the chance of my winning success. I care for her too much to lose her and am in a quandary as to what to do.

PUZZLED

WORK hard. You're both young and can well afford to wait several years. Won't you make the effort when you know how the same ones to work for?

The Girl Is Right

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

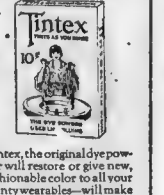
A girl friend has been going about with a young man for nearly two years. They are both from Madrid, and have been close friends from childhood. Now both of them have their vacation at the same time this Summer, and he proposes they spend it together at some hotel. She objects because of the gossip it will create among her neighbors and friends. They are not engaged.

CARLOTTA DE S.

THE girl is right. The young man should not be attracted at her decision. The world has made certain practical rules concerning chaperonage, and it does not pay to disdain them. It is foolish to ignore the fact that the appearance of evil must be avoided almost as strenuously as evil itself.

Faded Vacation Finery

You needn't be discouraged if some of your favorite finery became faded during vacation-time. Don't discard them. Just stop today at the nearest drug or department store and ask for this little package.



Tintex, the original dye powder will restore or give new, fashionable color to all your dainty wearables—will make them bright and fresh again in any of fifteen adorable shades.

Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years

IT is characteristic of folks after they pass the allotted "three score years and ten," to look back over the days that are gone and thoughtfully live them over.

I feel myself, at seventy-one, frequently drifted into reflection of a century, or less myself in the little drug store I owned in Bolivar, Mo., making and selling a vegetable compound to my friends and neighbors and then known only as Dr. Lewis' Medicine for Stomach, Liver and Bowels, Sour Stomach.

For many years while I was perfecting my formula, I studied and investigated the laxatives and cathartics on the market and became convinced that their main fault was that they all acted on the bowels, but that their action was too violent and weakened the system of the user, which was due to the fact that they were a shock to the bowels and their action, was simply acting on the upper or small intestines, while the drug would act only on the lower or large intestines, and that they almost invariably formed a habit requiring augmented doses.

I believed that a preparation to produce the best effect must first tone the liver, then act on the stomach and entire alimentary canal, and accomplished, my medicines would produce a mild, but thorough elimination of the waste without the usual sickening sensations, and make the user feel better at once.

* * *

I experimenting with hundreds of different formulas, it at last perfected the formula that is now known as Lewis' Medicine, which I truly believe goes further and does more than any laxative on the market today. The thousands of letters from users have convinced me I was right, and that the user of Lewis's Remedy as a family medicine, even though he may have used it for twenty-five years, never has to increase the dose.

My knowledge of medicine and the results of its use in my own family and among my friends, before I ever offered it for sale, caused me to have great faith in Lewis's Remedy from the very first.

And now as I find myself nearing the age when I must bow to the inevitable and go to meet those who have preceded me, I look each day and read the letters that each mail brings from people as old or older than I, who tell of having used Lewis's Remedy for a half and twenty years, and how they and their children and grandchildren have been benefited by it.

It is a consoling thought, my friends, for me as I say my age to feel that aside from his own personal work no man has done more for his fellow man. My greatest satisfaction, however, in perfecting this remedy, is the knowledge that tonight more than one million people will take a Lewis's Remedy (NR Tablet) and will be better, healthier, happier tomorrow for it. I hope you will be one of them.

CHAPTER XXVIII.—Continued

"NOW, he's always going somewhere in a hurry when he encounters Grismer, but his 'How are you; glad to see you' en passant, is even more cordially effusive than before. For Badger Spink never wittingly makes an enemy, either."

A Happy Man

"Poor Spink. He misses a lot," commented Cleland, renumbering some loose pages. "Tell me, Harry, how are things going with you."

Heller said naively:

"When a man's quite crazy about his wife everything else goes well."

Cleland laughed.

"That sounds convincing. What a little brick she is. I suppose you're lunching with her?"

"Rather!" He looked at his watch. "God knows," he added, "I don't want to bore her, but it would take a machine gun to drive me away. . . . I tell you, Cleland, three years of what I went through leave scars that never entirely heal. . . . I don't yet quite see how she could forgive me."

"Has she?"

"I'm trying to understand that she has. I know she has, because she says so. But it's hard to comprehend. . . . She's a very, very wonderful woman, Cleland."

"I can see that."

And whatever she wishes I wish. Whatever she desires to do is absolutely right because she desires it. But, do you know, Cleland, she's sweet enough to ask my opinion. Think of it—think of her asking my opinion — Willing to consider my wishes after what I've done to her! I tell you no man can study faithfully enough, minutely enough, the character of the girl he loves. I've had my lesson—a terrible one. I told you once that it was killing me—would end me some day. It would have if she had not held out her hand to me. . . . It was the finest, noblest thing any woman has ever done."

A Change of Heart

Cleland still lingering with fluttering solicitude over his manuscript, heard a step on the stair and Stephanie's fresh young voice in gay derision.

"You're a fussy old hen, Jim! Let that chick alone and take me somewhere to lunch! I've had a strenuous lesson and I'm starved."

She dodged his demonstration, eluding him with swift grace, and put the desk between them.

"No—not a chance! I just rose to witness the meeting of the Heliers, and that glimpse of conjugal respectability has stiffened my moral backbone. Besides, I'm deeply worried about you, Jim."

"About me?"

"Certainly. It fills me with anxiety that you should so far degrade yourself as to attempt to kiss a respectable married woman!"

She dodged again, just in time but he vaulted over the desk and she found herself imprisoned in his arms.

"I'll submit if you don't rumple me," she said. "I've such a darling gown, on—he very discrumpet, Jim"——

She lifted her face and met his lips, retained them with a little sigh, placing her gloved hands behind his head. They became very still, very serious, her gray eyes grew vague under his deep gaze which caressed them; her arms drew his head closer to her face. Then, very slowly, their lips parted, and she laid her hand on his shoulder and drew his arm around her waist.

A Suggestion

In silence they paced the studio for a while, slowly, and in leisurely step with each other deeply preoccupied.

"Steve," he said, "it's the first week in June. The city will be intolerable in a fortnight. Don't you think that we ought to open Kinnon's Rest?"

"You are going there with Oswald, aren't you?" she asked, raising her eyes.

"Yes, in a day or two. Don't you think we'd better try to get some servants and open the house for the Summer?"

She considered the matter.

"You know I've never been there since you went abroad, Jim. I believe we would find it delightful, don't you?"

"I do, indeed."

"But—is it going to be all right—just you and I alone there?"

You know even when we considered each other as brother and sister there was a serious question about our living together unless an older woman were installed"—she laughed—"to keep us in order. It was silly, then, and—I don't know whether it's superfluous now."

"Would Helen come?"

"Like a shot! Of course, that's the solution. We can have parties, too. . . . I wonder what is going to happen to us."

"What!"

"To you and me, Jim. . . . It's becoming such a custom—your arm around me this way; and that secret and deliciously uneasy thrill I feel when I come to you alone—and all my increasing load of guilt"——

"There's only one end to it, Steve."

"Jim, I can't tell him. I'm afraid! . . . Something happened once. . . . It was scarcely eighteen"—— suddenly clung to him, pressing her face convulsively against his shoulder. He could feel the shiver passing over her.

"Tell me," he said.

"Not now. . . . There doesn't seem to be any way of letting you understand. . . . I was not yet eighteen. I never dreamed of—of love—between you and me. . . . And Oswald fascinated me. He does now. He always will. There is something about him that draws me, influences me, stirs me deeply—deeply"——

Stephanie turned, looked at him, flung one arm around his neck.

"Will you let me tell you this and still understand? It's a—a different kind of affection. But it's deep, powerful—there are bonds that hold me—that I can't break—dare not. . . . Always he was attractive to me—a strange, sensitive, unhappy boy. . . . And then—something happened."

"Will you tell me what?"

"Oh, Jim, it involves a question of honor. . . . It can't betray confidence. . . . Let me tell you something. Did you know that Oswald, ever since you and he were born together, cared more for your good opinion than for anything else in the world?"

"That's strange."

"He is strange. He has told me that, as a boy, none of the things that most deeply hurt him was that he was never invited to your house. And I can see that the fact that dad never took any notice of his father mortified him bitterly."

"What has this to do with you and me, Steve?"

A great deal, unhappily. The seeds of tragedy lay in the boy's soul of Oswald Grismer—a tender sensitiveness almost girlish, which he concealed by assertiveness and an apparent reckless disregard of opinion, a pride so deep that in the shock of injury it became morbid. But, Jim, deep in that unhappy boy's soul lay also another and incredible loyalty, the generosity that costs something, the tenderness that renounces. . . . Oh, I know—I know.

Only a Girl

"I was only a girl and I didn't understand. I was fascinated by the golden, graceful youth of him—thrilled by the deeper glimpses of that mystery which attracts all women—the veiled unhappiness of a man's secret soul. That drew me, the man, revealed, held me. . . . I have told you that; I never dreamed there was any question about you. I was obsessed, wrapped up in the man so admired, so talented, so utterly misunderstood by all the world excepting me.

"It almost infuriated me to know that I alone knew him—that I alone was qualified to understand, sympathize, advise, encourage, rebuke this strange, inexplicable golden figured about who and whose rising talent the world of art was gossiping and speculating around me."

Beating

After a long silence he said:

"Is that all you have to tell me?"

"Nearly all. . . . His father died. . . . His aunt died. These facts seem unrelated. But they were not. . . . And then—then—Oswald lost his money. . . . Everything. . . . And I—married him. . . . There was more than I have told you. . . . I think I may tell this—I had better tell you, perhaps. . . . Did you ever know that my aunt employed lawyers to investigate the matter concerning the money belonging to Children Grismer's sister, who was my mother's mother?"

"No."

COPPERS MORE ACTIVE HERE

Boston Market Strong at Start, but Becomes Irregular; Curb Trading Dull

The Boston market displayed strength at the opening, but later in the morning reflected some selling pressure. Price irregularity prevailed before noon. It was a quiet and narrow market. After a good beginning coppers yielded somewhat. Rails were lower in sympathy with the tendency of carriers in New York. Packing issues were not as strong as they were yesterday. Trading was featureless. Eastern Steamship carried the advanced a point and other changes during the forenoon were fractional.

Among stocks to make small gains were Adventure, Old Dominion, New Cornelia, Shattuck, Arizona Commercial, National Metals, Eastern Manufacturing, Atlas Tack and Libby.

Small losses were sustained by Boston & Albany, New Haven, Massachusetts Gas, Island Creek Coal, Davis-Daly, International Cement, Waldorf and Gray & Davis.

CURB WEAK AT START.

Prices ruled lower on the Curb at the opening and when this market became more active it was responsible for wide fluctuations. Early trading was of small volume. Among weak issues at the beginning were Arizona Tip Top, Bagdad, Black Hawk, Crystal, Madonna, Mutual Ruby and Rainier. Silver Reef advanced. The most active stocks were Tip Top, Bagdad, Mutual and Empire.

At the end of an hour Silver Reef was up 2 cents at 8 cents, while Mutual was down 1 cent at 2 cents. Dividend 1 cent at 39 cents, Crystal 3 cents at 37 cents, Manhattan 1 cent at 14 cents and Ruby 4 cents at 45 cents. Tip Top, Bagdad, Black Hawk and Madonna had recovered losses.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

East Butte smelter production in August amounted to 1,558,800 pounds of copper, or July its output was 1,537,800 pounds. For the eight months ended with August the Boston & Albany road reports an increase of $2,120,000 in operating revenue and an increase of $2,856,962 in operating expenses. The net income decreased $736,720. The Warren Manufacturing Co. has declared a quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent., payable Oct. 1, to holders of record Sept. 4, and the common payable Sept. 15 to holders of record Sept. 1.

Middlesex County commissioners have received the following bids for a $100,000 loan, dated Sept. 1, 1920, maturing Sept. 1, 1921: Faxon, Gade & Co., 5.20 per cent.; Bond & Co., 5.29 per cent. The award will be made later.

It is denied at Calumet, Mich., that the Osceola is preparing to suspend. Officials of the only change in policy is the adoption of a half-time schedule for the old mine shaft.

Articles of association of Massachusetts carriers have been made out by Fred Reed and Charles Reed, capital $45,000 of preferred stock and 4,500 shares of common stock of no par value. Commercial Grain Co., of Malden, capital $125,000 of preferred stock and 10,000 shares of common stock of no par value. Atlas Realty Co., of Boston, capital $275,000 of preferred stock and 2,000 shares of common stock of no par value. Boston Automobile Wheel Alloy Co., of Boston, capital $300,000. Blue Hill Co., of Milton, capital $4,000. Proprietors Hotel Co., of Hull, capital $2000.

RALLIED IN THE SECOND HOUR

Sugars Higher and a Feature; Rails Are Weak; Steels and Oils Improve

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were irregular in New York Stock Exchange, but the market had a better tone than earlier in the session. There was a rally in the second hour in which steels, oils, motors, equipments and coppers improved. But rails remained weak, although above their lowest. Sugars were strong and a feature.

Beet Sugar advanced more than six points during the morning, while American Sugar, Punta Alegre and Cuba Cane were up about two points. They were all unusually active. The market was active, first hour transactions approximating 170,000 shares. Call loans renewed at 7 per cent. Foreign exchange rates ruled a shade lower at the opening, demand sterling being off a quarter of a cent at $3.43¾.

INDUSTRIALS OPENED STRONG

Industrials were up at the opening, excepting U. S. Steel, and held gains for a few minutes before there began to take profits. Rails did not move forward with the premature hour was over the market was weak. It became more active on the decline. Oils began well, but joined in the recessional, as did equipments, motors and coppers. Crucible was the strongest steel. Utah led coppers and Beet Sugar was the foremost issue of its kind. They were up from one to almost two points at their best. The price range was narrow. Gains and losses averaged small up to 11 o'clock. Reading and Canadian Pacific made the best, showing among high-priced carriers, while Missouri, Kansas & Texas issues were the weakest low-priced rails.

PUBLICIS INDIFFERENT.

It was hoped that the public would evince more interest in stocks after Labor Day, especially as it has been said that banking and other conservative interests have been giving the market more support of late. But the yield from standard stocks does not make them particularly attractive when compared with that from many bond offerings. Demand in the stock and bond market was small after the opening yesterday. Transactions at present are as professional in character as they were at any time during the summer. Traders are devoting themselves to quick action on the swings and to scalping profits.

Western bankers continue to express themselves rather cautiously as regards the money outlook than those in the East. In Chicago, George M. Reynolds said:

"We do not expect any trouble in meeting Autumn demands. Reserves of Federal Reserve banks are at the action above 42 per cent. A little later they may go below 40 per cent., particularly if the government continues to rely upon banks for meeting its current requirements. But 40 per cent is an arbitrary figure, and there will be no harm if reserves temporarily fall below it. The present situation is not disturbing, and that the decline in commodity prices must not become precipitate. That would work great harm.

New York Sub-Treasury Gain

New York, Sept. 8.—The sub-treasury gained $25,462,000 from the banks on Tuesday, making the cash net gain since Friday of $28,811,000.

KENTUCKY BANKERS HOLD A CONVENTION

Louisville, Sept. 8.—The convention of Kentucky bankers began here yesterday, and it was stated by President R. S. Hawes of the American Bankers' Association that industry, credit and prices seem to be trying to get back to a more normal level and that even labor will eventually have to undergo some liquidation. He said:

"People are now disposed to economize after one of the most limitless eras of extravagance we have ever experienced, and this resistance to unreasonable prices is having its effect. High prices themselves had their own part in this recession by first automatically checking consumption. Some very untoward things have followed. We see many staple products of our standard commercial lines at a standstill, if not worse, as regards markets and prices. Some of these conditions are reflected attitudes of more careful buying, combined with a more or less exaggerated feeling in some quarters that still greater evils are to be reaped from extravagant buying by the consumer and frenzied marketing by the retailer and wholesaler. Such a spirit of demand developed a wide practice of ordering twice as much as needed from about three times more than usually purchased from. At the first suspicion of less buying, a flood of cancellations of orders descended upon the industries who had based their production programs on orders in hand. This question of order cancellation is one of the most serious problems confronting industry today, and perhaps accounts for the market condition of even staple lines of production."

Cotton Market Opening

New York, Sept. 8.—The cotton market opened quiet, with first prices unchanged to 10 points lower because of poor Liverpool cables, local and Liverpool selling. After the early losses were partially regained on covering, and unfavorable weather reports. Liverpool cables said short covering on the week-end was the principal factor and hedge selling. At the end of fifteen minutes the market was unchanged to 10 points lower under the influence of lower opening prices were: October, 27.90; December, 26.10; January, 25.80; March, 24.85; May, 24.00; July, 23.90 bid.

NO RENT BOOST HERE LANDLORD PUTTING YOU OUT

Every Man His Own Boss

I have helped over 200 families from the City Tenements and Suburbs to own their own homes for only a $10 bill and monthly payments of $5 to $10 making a total investment that need be kept secret, and by the help of my 20 years' experience I will help you to get a home that will be a source of pride and pleasure to your healthy families. No more "Rent Bills," no more "Put Him Out." Their back payments are now growing. Vegetables, flower gardens, hens, lawns and shade trees now replace the hot sidewalk and street. I own a large number of very attractive garden lots I will sell you at your own terms, and extend you the same help, courteous and prompt treatment, and offer you my 20 years of extensive, hard-earned experience and I will be glad to be your assistant and counsel as your home ownership develops. Don't be a homeless renter working for someone else. Be independent and ambitious to become self supporting. I want you to bring your family and your friends and can show you the 200 actual proofs of my efforts for others. Call at the office of your request today for circular telling "How to do it." I will send it by return mail. Don't put off the time to make the right start by my method. Write today to MANAGER, P. O. Box 2900, Boston.

Yeast, Vitamines, Beauty, Work

Information Important to YOU

Copyright, 1920, Star Company.

Learn, here, what yeast does for beauty.

For beauty women will do almost anything, and men will do a great deal. Women in China squeezed their feet. All over the world they squeeze their waists. In some places they blacken their teeth when married. In others they buy white false teeth, dye their hair, kalsomine their face, take all feathers from all the birds, poison themselves with arsenic to look pale when that is the fashion, starve themselves for the sake of ugly, narrow hips when that is fashionable.

And men are almost as foolish as women.

Fortunately, and therein lies the salvation of the race, REAL beauty and good health are born of the same cause.

A clear skin and natural color are beautiful. No clear skin and natural color without good health.

Fresh air, pure water, sound sleep, plenty of it, moderate living, freedom from dissipation, all these are necessary to health, and fortunately for the human race, and thanks to nature's wisdom, the same things are absolutely necessary to good looks.

We can thank old mother nature for saying to us in the beginning, "I put you on earth to multiply your kind and do good work, you CANNOT do good work unless you are healthy. I want you to be healthy that you may work well and, as I know you care more about beauty than anything else, if you do not keep healthy I'll punish you by making you homely."

That is the speech that nature makes to us every day, and every day it proves her wisdom.

In order that your attention may be concentrated on the extraordinary value of the newly discovered "vitamine" so necessary to health, we invite your attention FIRST to the effect of these vitamines, and to health and beauty value of ordinary yeast in which the vitamines are most plentiful. It is not possible to exaggerate the effect of vitamines upon the complexion, beauty and general health.

Vitamines not thoroughly understood, are a necessity of life. Why, we don't know.

Lock up two rats in a cage. Feed one on nothing but lard, the other on nothing but butter. You would perhaps guess that both rats would improve. Your guess would be wrong.

The butter-eating rat would live. The lard-eating rat would die of starvation with a panful of lard before him as quickly as though it had been fed nothing. Now as to the health and life of ordinary yeast:

Feed two rats exactly the same diet of average food. Mix an ordinary compressed yeast cake in the food of one rat, and put no yeast in the food of another rat. The rat that eats the yeast will grow twice as rapidly as the other, will be twice as strong, with smooth, glossy coat. The other will grow slowly, and develop into a dull, mangy-looking, uninteresting rat, in comparison.

Green vegetables all contain vitamines. The ordinary little cake of yeast, with a single cell as small as the point of a pin, containing hundreds of life-giving yeast bodies, is of all foods, according to modern science, most important for health, and secondly for beauty.

Yeast taken raw, uncooked, spread on bread, or mixed with water, is of all remedies, one of the best for blood troubles that show in eruptions or other defects of the skin. Women shall remember that, men also.

One of the best known and ablest newspaper publishers of Boston said to this writer, "My son for years was afflicted with boils. We could do absolutely nothing for him. I then discovered and with deep gratitude, that the whole thing could be cured perfectly with ordinary simple cakes of compressed yeast, taken uncooked, with other food, or mixed in water.

A fact as simple, and important as that should be known to the whole world. For that reason it is published here.

It is not necessary to have a doctor's prescription. A few cents is the total outlay.

The life giving power of vitamines, named for VITA, which means life, are most plentiful in yeast. These vitamines are absolutely necessary to good blood. Good blood is necessary to good health, beauty and good work. The Dutch have a saying:

"Good wine makes good blood,
Good blood makes good thoughts,
Good thoughts make good work."

Substitute "vitamines" for "wine" and you will find the Dutch saying works well in this land of prohibition.

A Mean Attack

There is something ungenerous, small and mean in the attacks which are being made upon former Governor McCall by the reactionary element of the Republican party.

He is called by its leading newspapers, in the course of an attack upon the direct primary law, a Republican renegade, because he vetoed a bill, that the Democrats and Republican politicians united in passing, which would have destroyed the direct primary law. This bill was bad from every point of view and Governor McCall vetoted it in language which is irrefutable. If that made him a Republican renegade then nearly all the Republican States in the Union are renegade States, for they have adopted the direct primary law and are not sneering and snevilling about it either.

The reason that the old guard Republicans consider Mr. McCall a Republican renegade is because he kept his pledge to the Progressives when he was elected Governor by the return of the Progressives to the Republican party upon certain solemn promises which he made to them. It is an axiom of old guard Republicanism that platform promises and any other kind of political promises made to the people in general are made to get votes and not to be made good. The only kind of promises that the old guard Republicans ever believe there is honor in keeping is the secret promises made to the corporation and big business interests which contribute to their campaign funds.

The first year in our memory that the national Republican party is conducting a campaign upon funds legitimately raised is the present campaign of Senator Harding's.

More Truth Than Poetry

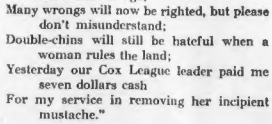
Woman Will Still Be Womanly

By S. E. KISER

SHE conducts a beauty parlor, giving comfort where she can,
Grieving not because fair woman's on an equal plane with man;
She has many salves and lotions that give smoothness to the skin;
She is useful to the stout ones who are anxious to be thin;
She advises lean ones daily how to weigh a little more,
And her place is not less crowded than it ever was before.

"LET them vote," she says, "but always they'll have ills to charm away;
I'm not likely to be idle, even on Election Day;
Though they help to make the speeches and are thinking more and more,
They'll have trouble with their faces, as they've always had before;
Yesterday the lovely leader of a Harding Club was here
To be treated for new wrinkles, just beginning to appear.

"WE have taken on new worries, we have reached a higher stage,
But the ladies keep on wishing to conceal the marks of age;
Many wrongs will now be righted, but please don't misunderstand;
Double-chins will still be hateful when a woman rules the land;
Yesterday our Cox League leader paid me seven dollars cash
For my service in removing her incipient mustache."



HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL

Whenever a woman looks into a mirror she hopes to discover some beauty spot that she never noticed before.

BEAUTY IS AS BEAUTY DOES

Five of the most beautiful women we ever say may have powdered their noses and tinted their lips, but they were delightfully modest in ordering the meals for which we were going to pay.

Letters to the Editor

Reply to Brisbane on MacSwiney

Editor Boston American:

Today there are some brilliant men with what might be termed wonderfully acute minds who while engaged through their interesting writings on most any subject of the day are placed in the very responsible and important position of moulding public opinion and judgment. Nevertheless these enjoyable writers are not infallible.

For example, there is the well-known Brisbane in the Boston American of September 3, writing on MacSwiney.

Referring to MacSwiney dying in Brixton prison, Brisbane asks of Father Vaughan, who is alleged to have said that he would not give extreme unction to MacSwiney, because starving himself to death voluntarily "he was committing suicide, which is a sin." Referring to the above alleged statement of Father Vaughan, Brisbane asks: "Had he been present would he have refused extreme unction to the One dying on the Cross?"

To which Father Vaughan or any mere fairly well-informed Christian might reply to Brisbane: Remember, no extreme unction was needed for the God man. He had all the divine power and graces and strength of the Saviour of the World. Christ was God as well as man. "The Word was made flesh and dwelt amongst us." His death was ordained by the Most High God. The One dying on the Cross had no need for extreme unction, being the source of all power, being God as well as man. And as such, from the upraised cross, we hear Him plead for the forgiveness of his crucifiers to his Father in Heaven. "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." Man's fall into sin offended grievously his Creator. This was an infinite offense, demanding for its atonement an infinite sacrifice.

You cannot reasonably compare a finite being's act with that of the infinite. That is what Brisbane is doing.

Today MacSwiney is deliberately destroying his life by refusing food. Therefore, he is unnecessarily sacrificing his life. He does not save the lives of others, but loses his own life, and it is simply suicidal action and nothing else.

By K. C. B.

Dear K. C. B.—You told us the other morning what you think of the girl who uses paint and powder. Will you now please tell us what you think of the girl who chews gum?

I want to show it to a girl in our office.

X. Y. Z.

MY DEAR X. Y. Z.
FIRST THING I know.
I'LL BE the editor.
OF A beauty column.
OR "HINTS to women."
OR SOME such thing.
AND HERE and now.
IS THE very last time.
I'LL DO this thing.
FOR I'M a man.
OF MIDDLE age.
AND COMPLETELY married.
AND IT'S none of my business.
WHO CHEWS gum.
I CAN'T do it.
BECAUSE WHEN I do.
I HAVE a tooth.
THAT ALWAYS aches.
BUT CONFIDENTALLY.
IF I WERE a girl.
I WOULDN'T chew gum.
BUT IF I had to.
I'D GET some kind.
THAT DIDN'T exlode.
AND I'D chew it gently.
WITH THE slightest movement.
OF THE lower jaw.
AND IF I found.
I WAS inclined.
TO SWING my jaw.
FROM SIDE to side.
AS SOME folks do.
AND AS cows do.
WITH THEIR juicy cuds.
I'D GIVE it up.
AND ABOUT this girl.
WHO WORKS with you.
IF SHE makes "cracks."
WHEN SHE chews her gum.
I'D LET her alone.
BECAUSE SOONER or later.
SHE'LL GET "shell shock."
AND HAVE to quit.
I KNOW a girl.
WHO USED to chew.
THE EXPLOSIVE kind.
AND HAD to quit.
BECAUSE OF her teeth.
AND GOT a job.
IN A shooting gallery
AND WAS very happy.

I THANK you.

Chaos in Europe

Nations Stand at Threshold of What Promises to Be the Worst Winter in Memory

By William C. Garner,

Universal Service Cable Editor

EUROPE today stands on the threshold of what promises to be the worst Winter in memory.

Wars, the heritage of the great war, are still raging. They are creating a drain on industry.

The great economic wars of the workers to gain a greater and greater portion of production for their own are breaking through in widely separated areas.

The British government, swayed by a tremendous Tory influence as a holdover from the war regime, is pursuing a course that only a miracle can prevent from resulting in a bloody chaos in Ireland, with the stifling of industries and another migration of the Irish young men and young women.

High Lights in War

The high lights in the economic war are Italy, Great Britain and Russia.

In Italy the toilers have shaken off the hope of realising their aims by parliamentary action and are now in the process of physically taking over the factories—evicting the owners, peaceably if possible, but none the less evicting them. The movement, starting with the factories, is spreading to other industries—notably the railroads, mines and docks.

The government until now has remained neutral. This in spite of the fact that the workers seized arsenals to insure their success in event they encountered heavy armed resistance.

In several instances the police have tried to interfere, but in no case have they succeeded. Parliamentarians are making an effort to check the move and to prevail on the workers to adopt a more conservative course. They as yet have made no headway.

Influence of Workers

The influence which the workers have in the affairs of government is indicated by the recent action of Italy toward Russia. With France aggressive in behalf of Poland and England less aggressive, but none the less hostile, to the Soviet, the Italian government announced that it would open diplomatic and trade relations with the Soviet forthwith. This was in the face of previous Italian policy to the contrary and in the face of the advice of England and France. A certain indication that the Soviet idea is a thing of tremendous force in Italy.

The British coal miners whose output is the keystone to all of the manufactures in the British Isles and to half the manufactures of the rest of Europe, are to strike September 25.

An Innovation

Their strike demand carries an innovation designed to turn public favor overwhelmingly toward them and to wipe out the profits of the operators and those members of the nobility who draw royalties on each ton of coal taken from the earth, because at some time in the remote past their ancestors were granted the land from which the coal is taken.

The sale of British coal on the Continent yields Great Britain a profit of about $330,000,000 per year. The miners demand an increase in wages of 40 cents per shift and they demand that the price of coal to the English household consuming public shall be reduced by $3.40 per ton. The coal is now approximately $12.60 per ton.

The increase in wages and the reduction of profit would wipe out the $330,000,000 profit, half going to the miners in the wage increase and half being gained by the consumers through the reduction of price.

Startled Tories

The idea advanced has rocked the British Tories to their very keels. They are urging the Premier to dissolve Parliament and go to the country in a general election "to teach labor a lesson." On their own behalf owners of industries are on the edge of a general locking out of labor "to teach it who is who." But as yet courage to take the step is wanting.

Hope is expressed for settlement. However, it is not a specific hope. It is general. The way out has not been definitely pointed to. If the strike occurs the first several weeks after its inception will be marked by the closing of practically every coal-burning factory on the islands said by many of those on the Continent.

Labor, too, has shown its hostility to the government policy in the MacSwiney case and has come out flat-footed for dominion home rule—an impossibility so long as Sir Edward Carson, Arthur J. Balfour, Walter Long and others of their frame of mind sit at the right hand of the Premier, blocking every move toward settlement.

Poland Swept Bare

Poland has been swept bare by the passage in the last six years of five great armies. Typhoid fever has made itself felt and promises a ravishment during the coming cold weather. The army, that has drained the country of practically every aggressive male and of many of the women, is still in the field with no signs of the immediate return of the men to the business of providing food, clothing and shelter for the war-swept land.

Russia, the oldest of the war governments in Europe with the exception of the British, is fighting two wars—Poland and Wrangel—it has projected another, a march into India—and on top of it is living off of what it can produce and what it can capture from the armies hurled against it. The anxiety that Lenine and Trotsky show for a resumption of trade relations by continuing Krassin and Kameneff in London, in spite of the British switch on Poland, is indicative that they, too, in spite of the vastness of their realm, are commencing to feel the pinch hard.

In Near East

In the Near East, Enver Pasha and Mustapha Kemal Pasha have inflamed the Turk Nationalists, and the other Moslems with the idea of a holy war against Great Britain and are making things hot and costly for the British government.

In ordinary times the situation would have been handled by a professional English army as a mere matter of routine. But with the best for fighting gone and the costs piling up the situation is different. Already there is a rumble in Britain about the coat. The recent freeing of Egypt may be an authoritative sign of the substantial trend in this region as distinguished from the surface trends indicated by war office communiques and propaganda.

Germany is placarded with hate for France. France has effected a military working agreement with Belgium and a similar agreement with Hungary. Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia and Rumania have formed the "Little Entente." This entente is an aid to France, but at the same time is a problem, as it is hostile to Hungary, France's direct relation.

To Other Nations

What will happen if the turmoil that is manifesting itself in Italy spreads to other nations is problematical. For in Italy the army is believed to be sympathetic to the workers. It is this, it is believed that has given the government pause.

French labor has shown a hostility to French military aid for General Wrangel, the anti-Soviet commander in South Russia. Should he prevail, upsetting the Soviet regime, France will be faced with the problem of collecting her debt, which Wrangel has guaranteed. More soldiers and more turmoil, as the Russian peasants, since the upset of three years ago, have owned the land and do not pay taxes, though some of their produce is commandeered. They may be considered certain of resistance, degree unknown, to the imposition of burdens on them to pay the debt which was incurred partly to maintain the Russian secret police.

Stars and Stripes

More pay for miners, a lower cost of anthracite coal, is the word from Washington. Dreaming again.

A penny a quart more for milk is also chargable in part to the new freight rates. But as you stint your children reflect how secure railway investments have been made.

Of course to ask $1 a ton more for coal on account of the new freight rates is all a mistake. Haven't the railway economists just assured that higher rates mean lower prices?
